

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
INTRODUCTION Toward a Psychopoetics of Textual Structure	1
INTERCHAPTER Crossing Over: Kafka's Metatextual Parable	45
1 The Psychogenesis of Flaubert's Style: Matter, Metaphor, and Metamorphosis	56
Emma Bovary and the Wound of Memory	57
The Basic Fault	66
Of Virgins and Tombstones: Mémoires d'un fou and Novembre	76
The Consciousness of Death and the Great Wall of Style	83
The Dismembering Temptation	92
2 Flaubert's Nameless Testament: Death and the Library in Bouvard et Pécuchet	102
Fetishism and Flux	103
The Comedy of Indigestion	117
The Eschatology of a Monumental Erection	126
3 Writing on Trial: Toward Kafka's "The Judgment"	139
Decaying Representations: From the Balcony to the Pavlatche	144
Intercourse with Ghosts: Kafka between Verbindung and Verkehr	152
The Eternal Torments of Dying	161
"The Judgment": Letters to an Absent Friend	167
Father Effects: Metaphoric Nomination and Psychotic Foreclosure	174
The Body of the Text: Giving Birth and Opening a Wound	184
4 The Allegorical Structure of The Castle	189
The Sign-Scripts of Transience	189
The Last Earthly Frontier: Madness, Metaphor, Writing, and Death	198
Mirror Effects: Official Texture and Private Compulsion	205
Unconscious Structures in Language and Desire	214
Childish Play and Textual Politics	220
The Subject as Supplement and Fictional Agent	227
CONCLUSION The Issue of Comparison	232
Notes	249
Index	259