

Contents

Chapter 1: Introduction and Prosodic Preliminaries	3
1.1 Introduction	3
1.2 Prosodic preliminaries	6
1.3 Stress and vowel length: diachronic developments	8
Chapter 2: Historical Gemination	15
2.1 Assimilation	15
2.2 Compensatory lengthening; gemination before glides and the role of sonority	16
2.3 Stress and gemination	21
2.4 Absence of geminates in northern dialects	22
Chapter 3: Raddoppiamento Sintattico : Data	25
3.1 RS in Standard Italian and the central dialects	25
3.2 Northern dialects	28
3.3 Southern dialects	29
3.4 Conclusion	35
Chapter 4: Previous Analyses	37
4.1 Stress and syllable weight	37
4.2 Stress clash	41
4.3 Syntactic analyses	43
4.4 Diachronic analyses	45
Chapter 5: Lenition	57
5.1 Standard Italian	57
5.2 Central dialects (excluding Standard Italian)	59
5.2.1 Tuscan spirantization (la gorgia toscana)	62
5.2.2 Interaction of lenition with RS	62
5.3 Northern dialects	63

5.4 Southern dialects	64
5.4.1 Interaction with RS	67
5.5 Conclusion	69
 Chapter 6: Analysis	71
6.1 Optimality Theory	71
6.2 Analysis of RS in Standard Italian and the central dialects	79
6.3 RS in the southern dialects	86
6.4 RS in the northern dialects	92
6.4.1 Northern dialects that lengthen final vowels in RS position	95
6.5 Lenition	98
6.6 A historical picture: RS, diachronic change, and OT	108
6.7 Historical conclusions	116
6.8 Conclusion	117
 References	121
Index	129