

CONTENTS

Introduction 1

Part One: This Mottled World, 1791–1827

- 1 The Matriarch and Her Sons 8
- 2 Ten Years Too Early 33
- 3 The Best Boy in the World 44
- 4 It Might Make One in Love with Death 54
- 5 By Hook or By Crook 70
- 6 To Pick the Father's Pocket 89

Part Two: Forward, Forward Let Us Range, 1828–1839

- 7 This Black Place 114
- 8 A Castle in the Air 126
- 9 Life as Propaganda 136
- 10 A Long and Sore Trial 149
- 11 Down the Ringing Grooves of Change 164
- 12 Strangers to their Family 177
- 13 The Ingenious Projector 188
- 14 'I would die in your service' 209
- 15 Possess Yourselves of the Soil 223

Part Three: War to the Knife, 1839–1848

16	‘They would extort the masts out of the ship’	242
17	‘I am half a missionary myself’	267
18	Hobson’s Choice	282
19	Nursed in Blood	299
20	Cui Bono?	323
21	Utu Postponed	351
22	The New Zealand War	373
23	‘He is but cold earth’	391
24	A Highly Excitable Temperament	411

Part Four: A Suicide of the Affections, 1849–1879

25	Flying With a Broken Wing	428
26	A Slice of England	440
27	Noodles	456
28	Dead to the Past	475
29	‘That Old Giant Spider’	496
30	Dead to the Future	517

Epilogue 534

Extended Notes 542

Acknowledgements 546

Bibliography 548

Notes 555

Index 577