

CONTENTS

Contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Introduction Gill Rye and Michael Worton	1
I Rewriting the past
1 Louise L. Lambrichs: trauma, dream and narrative Victoria Best	29
2 Evermore or nevermore? Memory and identity in Marie Redonnet's fiction of the 1990s Aine Smith	42
3 The female vampire: Chantal Chawaf's melancholic autofiction Kathryn Robson	53
4 Lost and found: mother-daughter relations in Paule Constant's fiction Gill Rye	65
5 Puzzling out the fathers: Sibylle Lacan's Un père: puzzle Elizabeth Fallaize	77
II Writing the dynamics of identity
6 Anatomical writing: Blasons d'un corps masculin, L'Écrivain and La Ligne âpre by Régine Detambel Marie-Claire Barnet	93
7 'On ne s'entendait plus et c'était parfait ainsi' (They could no longer hear each other and it was just fine that way): misunderstandings in the novels of Agnès Desarthe Sarah Alyn Stacey	106
8 Textual mirrors and uncertain reflections: gender and narrative in L'Hiver de beauté, Les Ports du silence and La Rage au bois dormant by Christiane Baroche Gill Rye	118
9 The articulation of beur female identity in the works of Farida Belghoul, Ferrudja Kessas and Soraya Nini Siobhán McIlvanney	130

10	Saying the unsayable: identities in crisis in the early novels of Marie Darrieussecq Shirley Jordan	142
III Transgressions and transformation
11	Experiment and experience in the phototextual projects of Sophie Calle Johnnie Gratton	157
12	Christine Angot's autofictions : literature and/or reality? Marion Sadoux	171
13	'Il n'y a pas de troisième voie' (There is no third way): Sylvie Germain and the generic problems of the Christian novel Margaret-Anne Hutton	182
14	The subversion of the gaze: Shérázade and other women in the work of Leïla Sebbar Margaret A. Majumdar	195
15	Unnatural women and uncomfortable readers? Clotilde Escalle's tales of transgression Michael Worton	207
	Conclusion Gill Rye and Michael Worton	222
	Individual author bibliography	226
	General bibliography	250
	Index	258