

· CONTENTS ·

---

---

LIST OF FIGURES	xi
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xv
INTRODUCTION	xvii
CHAPTER ONE
On the Subject of Weimar Film History	3
Mass Culture, Modernism, and the Male Spectator in Weimar Film Histories	9
Women in Weimar: Theorizing the Female Spectator	18
Melodrama and Expressionism: The Conventions of Pathos	25
CHAPTER TWO
Perceptions of Difference	39
Perception, Mass Culture, and Distraction: Martin Heidegger	51
Perception, Mass Culture, and Distraction: Walter Benjamin and Siegfried Kracauer	57
Men's Modernism versus Women's Modernity: Weimar Women at Work and at the Movies	68
CHAPTER THREE
Weimar Photojournalism and the Female Reader	79
Institutional and Textual Politics: Photojournalism and Film in Weimar	84
Modes of Representation in the Illustrated Press	90
Gender, Looking, and the Address to Female Readers: Die Dame and the Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung	110
CHAPTER FOUR
Weimar Cinema and the Female Spectator	140
Gender, Looking, and Identification in the Weimar Cinema: Male and Female Spectatorship	145
Dirnentragödie : Sexual Mobility, Social Mobility, and Melodramas of the Street	160

CONTENTS

---

---

Hintertrepp e: Modes of Looking and Female Spectator Identification	174
Zufucht : Male Identity and Female Visual Pleasure	189
Die freudlose Gasse : Censorship and the Female Spectator	199
AFTERWORD
Feminism and Film History—Joyless Streets Circa 1988	220
BIBLIOGRAPHY	229
INDEX	243

· LIST OF FIGURES ·

---

1. Women in the crisis ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1932)	22
2. Modernity and male anxiety ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1923)	35
3. The modern woman ( Die Dame , 1927)	37
4. The masquerade ( Die Dame , 1927)	38
5. The woman and the city ( Die Dame , 1930)	41
6. Women and rationalization ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1930)	72, 73
7. The female reader ( Pandora's Box , 1928)	81
8. From film to photojournalism: narration in pictures ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1930)	93
9. Analytic documentary: John Heartfield ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1929)	96
10. Expressionist documentary: Käthe Kollwitz ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1923)	97
11. Käthe Kollwitz and the left-wing press ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1927)	99
12. Melodramatic expression in the left-wing press ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1934)	100
13. Melodramatic expression in the bourgeois press ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1923)	101
14. The inflation and the illustrated press ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1923)	102
15. Inflated images and everyday life ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1923)	104
16. "Now that's enough! Against the masculinization of woman" ( Berliner Illustrirte Zeitung , 1925)	106

---

---

17. Imagining androgyny ( Berliner Illustrierte Zeitung , 1927)	108
18. The masculine masquerade ( Die Dame , 1926)	112
19. The masculinization of woman ( Berliner Illustrierte Zeitung , 1924)	113
20. The feminized male ( Die Dame , 1928)	120
21. Return to classicism ( Die Dame , 1931)	122
22. Femininity in fashion ( Die Dame , 1931)	123
23. Glorification of motherhood ( Die Dame , 1931)	125
24. The masculinized male ( Die Dame , 1931)	126
25. The proletarian mother ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1930)	128
26. The working-class family ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1924)	129
27. The working woman ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1931)	131
28. Women of the revolution ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1927)	133
29. The address to female voters ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1933)	135
30. The address to male voters ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1933)	136
31. General appeal to voters ( Arbeiter Illustrierte Zeitung , 1932)	138
32. How Hollywood changes German actresses ( Berliner Illustrierte Zeitung , 1930)	161
33. The prostitute, the city, and the street film ( Dirnentragödie , 1927)	162
34. Divided image, divided perception ( Dirnentragödie , 1927)	166
35. Choreographed seduction ( Dirnentragödie , 1927)	169

36. The fantasy of social mobility ( Dirnentragödie , 1927)	171
37. Locked doors and expressive anxiety ( Dirnentragödie , 1927)	171
38. Male ambivalence ( Dirnentragödie , 1927)	172
39. Excessive desire ( Dirnentragödie , 1927)	172
40. Architectural surveillance ( Hintertreppe , 1921)	177
41. The maid's domestic routine ( Hintertreppe , 1921)	179
42. Male voyeurism ( Hintertreppe , 1921)	179
43. The postman's apprehension ( Hintertreppe , 1921)	181
44. Shared gestures of despair ( Hintertreppe , 1921)	181
45. Disturbance of symmetry ( Hintertreppe , 1921)	182
46. The resolution of male masochism ( Hintertreppe , 1921)	187
47. Woman as spectator, outside the event ( Hintertreppe , 1921)	187
48. Woman's gaze at passive male eroticism ( Zuflucht , 1927)	193
49. Passivity as exhaustion ( Zuflucht , 1927)	193
50. Literalizing the male image ( Zuflucht , 1927)	194
51. Documentary expressionism ( Zuflucht , 1927)	196
52. Self-sacrifice and visual alliance ( Zuflucht , 1927)	198
53. The stylization of illness ( Zuflucht , 1927)	198
54. Opening tableau ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	202

---

---

55. Male villainy ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	203
56. The working-class family ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	205
57. The middle-class family ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	205
58. The threat to virtue ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	208
59. The terms of exchange ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	210
60. Melodramatic excess and female identity ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	212
61. Theatrical resolution: the butcher's refusal ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	214
62. Knocking down the door ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	214
63. Death of the tyrant ( Die freudlose Gasse , 1925)	215