

Table Of Contents

Foreword	ix
Introduction: Creating New Knowledge	15
When Research, Teaching, and Education Meld . . .	17
Education and Video: The New Wave	19
Video Study Groups Situate Reflection	21
The Transformation of Recorded Pedagogy	23
Practical Knowledge Is Broad, Flexible, and Varied	24
Chapter One: Situating Interaction	27
Types of Video Study Groups	28
Video Recording and the Surrounding Environment .	39
A Tailored Setting	45
Tailored Teaching	54
In Brief	59
Chapter Two: Organizing Interactions	61
Modulating Meetings	63
Creating an Interactive Community	64
In Brief	82

Chapter Three: Choosing a Frame for Discussion	85
The Functional Video Study Group	88
The Strategic Video Study Group	94
The Constructivist Video Study Group	101
The Sociocritical Video Study Group	106
The Personal Video Study Group	110
The Pragmatic Video Study Group	114
Some Important Points	120
In Brief	121
Chapter Four: Supporting Interaction	123
A Regulatory Vision of Support	123
In Brief	144
Conclusion	145
Glossary	147
References	149