

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Jan Firbas: Josef Vachek's Work in General and English Linguistics . . . . .	7
A Preliminary Remark . . . . .	14
A. GENERAL PHONOLOGY
Phonemes and Phonological Units (1936) . . . . .	15
Can the Phoneme be defined in terms of time? (1937) . . . . .	20
The Non-Static Aspect of the Synchronically Studied Phonological System (1967) . . . . .	23
Notes on One Aspect of the Internal Structuration of the Phonological System (1967) . . . . .	29
On the Explanatory Power of the Functional Load of Phonemes (1969) . . . . .	36
On Some Basic Principles of "Classical" Phonology (1964) . . . . .	44
B. OTHER GENERAL LINGUISTIC ISSUES
On Functional Complementation as an All-Level Analytical Procedure in Language Research (1965) . . . . .	67
On the Integration of the Peripheral Elements into the System of Language (1966) . . . . .	77
On the Interplay of External and Internal Factors in the Development of Language (1962) . . . . .	91
A Note on Future Prospects of Diachronistic Language Research (1968) . . . . .	104
Zum Problem der geschriebenen Sprache (1939) . . . . .	112
Written Language and Printed Language (1948) . . . . .	121
Some Remarks on Writing and Phonetic Transcription (1945—9) . . . . .	127
The Present State of Research in Written Language (1972) . . . . .	134
C. ENGLISH PHONOLOGY
The Phonematic Status of Modern English Long Vowels and Diphthongs (1963) . . . . .	147
The Place of [ɔI] in the Phonic Pattern of Southern British English (1965) . . . . .	162
Phonemic Remarks on the "Long Mixed Vowel" of Modern English (1965) . . . . .	168
On Peripheral Phonemes of Modern English (1964) . . . . .	176
I. Peripheral Elements in the Structure of Language . . . . .	176
II. The Elimination of the Modern English /h/-Phoneme . . . . .	179
III. The Early Middle English Phoneme /J/ and the Personal Pronoun She . . . . .	194
IV. The Phonematic Values of the English Wh -Sounds . . . . .	204
V. The Problem of the Phonematic Status of the Modern English [ŋ] -Sound . . . . .	224
VI. The Decline of the Modern English /r/ . . . . .	233
VII. The Phonematic Relation of Modern English [ɪ] and [j] . . . . .	246
VIII. The Modern English "Short Mixed Vowel" as a Phonematic Problem . . . . .	253
IX. The Place of [ɔI] in the Modern English Phonematic Pattern . . . . .	261

Some Thoughts on the Phonology of Cockney English (1962) . . . . .	288
Some Phonological Problems of Modern English Sonant Sounds (1969) . . . . .	297
Remarks on the Sound Pattern of English (1970) . . . . .	304
D. OTHER PROBLEMS OF ENGLISH
Some Less Familiar Aspect of the Analytical Trend of English (1961) . . . . .	310
I. Some Remarks on the Analytical Character of English . . . . .	310
II. The Status of the Word in Modern English . . . . .	315
III. The "Possessive Case" of Modern English . . . . .	328
IV. The Compactness of the Modern English Sentence . . . . .	337
V. The Oppositions of Quantity and Quality in Modern English Vowels . . . . .	353
VI. The Oppositions of Voice and Tension in Modern English Paired Consonants . . . . .	364
VII. The Eclipse of the Modern English Neutral Consonant . . . . .	372
Notes on Gender in Modern English (1964) . . . . .	386
On Social Differentiation of English Speech Habits (1960) . . . . .	392
Some Sociolinguistic Factors in the Development of English (1972) . . . . .	400
Two Chapters on Written English (1959) . . . . .	408
I. On the Functional Hierarchy of Spoken and Written Utterances . . . . .	409
II. Some Remarks on the Development of the Written Norm in English . . . . .	421
Index of persons . . . . .	442
Index of subjects . . . . .	446