TABLE OF CONTENTS

Volume II
On languages

F On languages, past and present

(f) Dialects and diasystems
(17) Family tree, wave theory, and dialectology (1953) 1
(18) Structural comparison, diasystems, and dialectology (1964) 7
(19) Proto-languages as proto-diasystems: Proto-Romance (1964) 23

(g) Segmental phonology
(20) What is a diphthong? (1979) 35
(21) Neogrammarians and soundlaws (1955) 45
(22) The voiceless bilabial spirant in Indo-European (1979) 51
(23) Greek phi in Latin-Romance (1981) 61
(24) French /e/: statics and dynamics of linguistic subcodes (1961) 69

(h) Non-segmental phonology (prosodics)
(25) The role of prosodies in discourse analysis (1985) 89
(26) Paul Garde's L'Accent (1969) 97
(27) The accent in Spoken Latin (Proto-Romance) (1979) 117
(28) The accentuation of Greek loans in Spoken and Written Latin (1965) 123
(29) Prosodics of vowel and syllable in Greek and Latin (1974) 141
(30) Attic shortening or metrical lengthening? (1981) 151
(31) Prosodic systems: French (1965) 167
(32) Syllabic, morphological, and pseudo-syllabic boundaries (1981) 185

(i) Morphology and syntax
(33) Synthetic and analytic morphological constructs (1963) 193
(34) Indo-European passive paradigms: defects and repairs (1977) 205
(35) Lat. quaerere und queri (1979) 217
(36) The reduction and elimination of redundancy (1983) 221
(37) The functions of past tenses: Greek, Latin, Italian, French (1984) 239
(37A) Latin-Romance, English, German past tenses and aspects: defects and repairs (1988) 265

G On languages, future

(38) Trends and predictions (1967) 279
(39) A socio-linguistic view of innovation: -ly and -wise (1968) 297
(40) Latin-Romance habere: double function and lexical split (1978) 309

H Epilogue

(41) Pulgram's progress (1980) 319

I References for Volume II 339