
Contents

Introduction

Curriculum Vitae of Victoria A. Fromkin

Publications of V.A. Fromkin

List of Contributors

Part One: Phonetic and Phonological Studies

1. Creak as a Sociophonetic Marker
Caroline Henton and Anthony Bladon 3
 2. On Feature Copying: Parameters of Tone Rules
Larry M. Hyman and Douglas Pulleyblank 30
 3. Phonological Features for Places of Articulation
Peter Ladefoged and Ian Maddieson 49
 4. Phonetic Universals in Consonant Systems
Björn Lindblom and Ian Maddieson 62
-

Part Two: Clinical and Neurolinguistic Studies

5. Abnormal Language Acquisition and Grammar: Evidence for the Modularity of Language
Susan Curtiss 81
6. Advances in the Neuroanatomical Correlates of Aphasia and the Understanding of the Neural Substrates of Language
Antonio R. Damasio and Hanna Damasio 103
7. The Long-term Linguistic Consequences of Head Injury in Childhood: a Review
John H. V. Gilbert 118
8. The Neurolinguistic Substrate for Sign Language
Edward S. Klima, Ursula Bellugi and Howard Poizner 138
9. Functional Levels in Normal, Intensified and Aphasic Speech
John C. Marshall and Freda Newcombe 153
10. William Elder (1864–1931): Diagram Maker and Experimentalist
Harry A. Whitaker 163

11.	The Independence of Language: Evidence from a Retarded Hyperlinguistic Individual Jeni Yamada	175
<hr/>
Part Three: Other Psycholinguistic and Linguistic Studies
12.	The Perfect Speech Error Anne Cutler	209
13.	Free Reading and the Development of Literacy Stephen D. Krashen	224
14.	The Scarcity of Speech Errors in Hindi Manjari Ohala and John J. Ohala	239
15.	Empiricism and Universal Grammar in Chomsky's Work Sven Öhman	254
16.	Linguistics and Computer Speech Recognition Robert D. Rodman	269
17.	What's in a name? Inferences from Tip-of-the-tongue Phenomena Paul Schachter	295
18.	A Relevance-theoretic Account of Conditionals Neil Smith and Amahl Smith	322