

CONTENTS

Preface	9
First Part: Linguistics and Languages	15
I. The Linguist's Experience of Languages	17
1. The Multiplicity of Languages	17
2. Translatability	18
3. Language and Thinking	21
II. Linguistics as a Science	24
1. Data	24
2. Hypotheses	25
3. Theories	27
III. Language Classification	31
1. Typological Classification	31
2. Genetic Classification	34
IV. The Language Families of the World	42
1. The Plausibility of Genetic Hypotheses	42
2. Instances of Language Families	45
Second Part: Linguistic Structure	51
V. An Elementary Model	53
1. Linear Sequence	53
2. Hierarchy	55
3. Limits of Applicability	57
VI. Linguistic Categories	60
1. Syntagmatic Relations	60
2. Paradigmatic Relations	63
VII. Phonemic Analysis	68
1. Models of Phonetic/Phonemic Interpretation	68
2. Segmentation	69
3. Congruence between Segments and Phonemes	70

VIII. Phonemic Identity	74
1. Segmental Phonemes	74
2. Suprasegmental Phonemes	76
3. Application to Language Teaching	79
IX. Morphemic Analysis	83
1. Segmentation	83
2. Word Formation	84
3. Lexical Fields	86
4. Congruence between Segments and Morphemes/ Words	87
X. Morphemic Identity	91
1. The Linguistic Sign	91
2. Morphemic Variation	94
3. Criteria of Identity	97
Third Part: The Variability of Languages	99
XI. Special Vocabularies	101
1. Discovery Procedure	101
2. Technical Vocabularies	102
3. Class Vocabularies	104
4. Social Attitudes	105
XII. Style	109
1. Formality	109
2. Transferred Vocabularies	112
3. Models of Style	114
XIII. Dialects	116
1. Regional Diversity	116
2. Isoglosses at Different Levels of Structure	117
3. Isogloss Patterns.	119
4. Social Attitudes	120
XIV. Sociolects.	124
1. Social Diversity	124
2. Social Isoglosses at Different Levels of Structure	126
3. Social Attitudes	128

XV. Linguistic History	131
1. Historical Diversity	131
2. Historical Change at Different Levels of Structure	132
3. The Continuity of Historical Change	136
4. Archaisms	138
XVI. Linguistic Prehistory	140
1. Reconstruction from Isogloss Patterns	140
2. Internal Reconstruction	141
3. Comparative Reconstruction	142
4. Etymology	143
Fourth Part: Language Situations	149
XVII. Bilingualism	151
1. Theory of Bilingualism	151
2. Cultural Borrowing	153
3. Intimate Borrowing	154
4. Productive Borrowing	155
XVIII. Koinê Languages	158
1. Types of koinê	158
2. Prescriptive Standards	160
3. History of Standard Languages	162
XIX. Writing	165
1. Theories of Writing	165
2. Alphabets	166
3. Spelling Conventions	169
4. Spelling Pronunciation	170
XX. Linguistic Pathology	173
1. Speech Defects	173
2. Aphasia	175
 Appendix:
XXI. Historical Layers of Linguistics	182
1. Mythology, Grammar and Philosophy	182

2. Comparative Linguistics	185
3. Structural Linguistics	187
List of Abbreviations	191
Author Index	192
Index of Technical Terms	195
Subject Index	201
Index of Languages	221