

CONTENTS

Jürgen Kamm, “Introduction” .....	7
Christoph Ehland, “Stratford’s Shakespeare Industries. A Study in Corruption?” .....	11
Sabine Coelsch-Foisner, “Transformed Bodies in Contemporary Museum Culture” .....	29
Richard Kilborn, “‘Adapt to Survive’. The BBC in a New Broadcasting Age” .....	45
Carsten Schinko & Christian Huck, “The Space of British Pop” .....	59
Monika Seidl, “Medialising Mr Darcy. Colin Firth as Extra Darcy in Pride and Prejudice (1995)” .....	81
Dietmar Böhnke, “Screening the Victorians. Representations of the Victorian Age in Contemporary British Films” .....	99
Ina Habermann, “British Cinema and the ‘People’s War’” .....	119
Eckart Voigts-Virchow, “Undead Histories. Recent British TV Retrovisions” .....	133
Jürgen Kamm, “ Our Friends in the North (BBC 1996). Chronicling Post-War British Society” .....	151
Gerold Sedlmayr, “Negotiating Diasporic Spaces in Contemporary Multi-Ethnic Britain. Gurinder Chadha’s Bend It like Beckham ” .....	173
Hilary P. Dannenberg, “Hybrid Genres and Crosscultural Dialogues in Contemporary British Television Comedy. The Kumars at No 42 and Ali G ” .....	185
Annette Pankratz, “ The Office and the Hyperreality of New Britain” .....	201
Notes on Contributors .....	219