

CONTENTS

Author's Preface	7
1. Thought and Experience	9
2. Lexicography and Lexicology	23
3. The Theoretical Principles of Lexicographical Work	39
4. The Dualist and Monist Trends in the History of Linguistic Thought. Soul and Brain	49
5. Perceptions and Conceptions	69
6. The Sign as an Object of Perception and as an Element in a System	95
7. Thinking as a Cognitive Process and the Myth-making Power of Words. The Concept of an Object of Thought. The Concept of a Law. Two Systems of Signals	119
8. On the Forms and Types of Predication	137
9. The Designata of Singular and General Terms and the Semantic Content of These Terms. Differentiating Reality into Elements and the Synthesis of These Elements in the Process of Thinking in a Language. The Horizons of Lexicology	183
10. The Concept of a Word. The Structure of Words and Their Functions	231
11. On Dictionary Definitions of the Meanings of Words	273
Index of Surnames	295
Index of Terms, Words, Forms and Structural Elements	299