Contents

List of Contributors vii

1. Introducing the Emotional Organization
   Stephen Fineman 1

Part I: Emotional Arenas

The Hospital
2. Me, Morphine, and Humanity: Experiencing the Emotional Community on Ward 8
   Sharon C. Bolton 15

The Prison
3. Power, Paradox, Social Support, and Prestige: A Critical Approach to Addressing Correctional Officer Burnout
   Sarah J. Tracy 27

Crisis Work
4. Rape Work: Emotional Dilemmas in Work With Victims
   Patricia Yancey Martin, Douglas Schrock, Margaret Leaf, and Carmen Von Rohr 44

The Recreation Center
5. In the Gym: Peer Pressure and Emotional Management Among Co-Workers
   Mary Haman and Linda L. Putnam 61

The Job Center
   Marek Korczynski and Victoria Bishop 74
The Call Center
7. Enactments of Class and Nationality in Transnational Call Centers
   Kiran Mirchandani  88

Web Work
8. The Gendering of Emotions and Perceived Work Time: Chicks
   and Geeks at l.com
   Nicole L. Kangas and Debra E. Meyerson  102

Homeworking
9. Managing the Emotional Boundaries of Telework
   Gill Musson and Katy Marsh  121

Consultancy
10. Management Consultancy and Humor in Action and Context
    Andrew Sturdy, Timothy Clark, Robin Fincham, and Karen Handley  134

Part II: Shifting Identities
11. Becoming a Successful Corporate Character and the Role of Emotional Management
    Caroline Hatcher  153

12. Gender and the Emotion Politics of Emotional Intelligence
    Stephanie A. Shields and Leah R. Warner  167

13. Feeling Out of Place? Towards the Transnationalizations of Emotions
    Jeff Hearn  184

14. It’s All Too Beautiful: Emotion and Organization in the Aesthetic
    Economy
    Philip Hancock and Melissa Tyler  202

Epilogue
   Stephen Fineman  218

Index  220