

Contents

Preface	V
List of participants	IX
Anders Ahlqvist Paragraph 16 of Audacht Morainn : linguistic theory and philological evidence	1
Jean Aitchison The missing link: the role of the lexicon	11
Frances Austin Text as social indicator: the letters of Julia Miles Barnes	29
Laurel J. Brinton The development of discourse markers in English	45
Gerrit H. V. Bunt Localizing William of Palerne	73
Lyle Campbell Philological studies and Mayan languages	87
Una Canger Philology in America: Nahuatl	107
AnthoniJ Dees Towards a dialectology of spoken Old French: the analysis of rhymes	119
Bernhard Diensberg The phonological status of long consonants in the Vernon manuscript of the Ancrene Riwe	135
Hans-Jürgen Diller Linguistic searchlights and philological buckets: a case study of their interdependence (the conceptual field of persuade/con- vince)	143

Jan Terje Faarlund
Syntactic and pragmatic principles as arguments in the interpretation of runic inscriptions	165
Marinel Gerritsen
The relationship between punctuation and syntax in Middle Dutch	187
Ives Goddard
Unhistorical features in Massachusetts orthography	227
Veronika Kniezsa
The orthographic aspect of the runes	245
Witold Mańczak
The object of philology and the object of linguistics	261
Saara Nevanlinna
The occurrence of glosses in three Late Middle English texts: lexical variation	273
Karl Odwarka
On scribal errors: from the Old Saxon evidence	291
Herbert Pilch
The last Vercelli homily: a sentence-analytical edition	297
Rebecca Posner
Linguistics and philology: parametric changes and Romance possessives	337
Matti Rissanen
On the happy reunion of English philology and historical linguistics	353
Werner Winter
The importance of fine points in spelling: deletion of accented vowels in Tocharian B	371
Index of authors	393
Index of languages	399