

Contents

Introduction	ix
I. Theoretical Approaches
1. On the Subsequent Development of the 'Standard Theory' in Phonology / Stephen R. Anderson	2
2. Atomic Phonology / Daniel A. Dinnsen	31
3. Functionally-constrained Phonology / Kathleen Houlihan and Gregory K. Iverson	50
4. Equational Rules and Rule Functions in Phonology / Gerald A. Sanders	74
5. Substantive Principles in Natural Generative Phonology / Joan B. Hooper	106
6. The Study of Natural Phonology / Patricia J. Donegan and David Stampe	126
7. The Phonological Component as a Parsing Device / William R. Leben	174
8. The Aims of Autosegmental Phonology / John Goldsmith	202
9. Siddha and Asiddha in Pāṇinian Phonology / S. D. Joshi and Paul Kiparsky	223
II. Review Article
10. How Different Are They? / Fred W. Householder	252
III. Remarks and Replies
11. On Arguing about Phonological Theories / Fred R. Eckman	266
12. On the Alleged Correlation of Markedness and Rule-function / Jonathan Derek Kaye	272
13. Some Observations on "Substantive Principles in Natural Generative Phonology" / James W. Harris	281

✓

14. Comments / James D. McCawley	294
15. Nonsegmental Phonology / Sanford A. Schane	303
16. Remarks on Markedness / Linda R. Waugh	310
Bibliography	317