Contents

	List of tables	vii
	List of figures	vii
	Preface	viii
	Abbreviations	xi
1	Theoretical preliminaries	1
1.0	Introduction	1
1.1	Functional syntax	3
1.2	Universal grammar	16
1.3	Outline of the discussion	25
2	The semantic structure of the clause	27
2.0	Introduction	27
2.1	The notions of actor and undergoer	28
2.2	The token-specific semantics of actor and undergoer	32
2.3	Dowty's system of verb classification and theory of verb aspect	36
2.4	Application of Dowty's system to Lakhota	39
2.5	A system of logical structures and semantic relations	47
2.6	The token-specific semantics of actor and undergoer revisited	53
2.7	The Tagalog verbal system: classification and logical structures	63
3	Case marking	75
3.0	Introduction	75
3.1	Silverstein's theory of case marking	75
3.2	The layered structure of the clause	77
3.3	Aspects of case marking in three languages	80
	3.3.1 English: preposition assignment	81
	3.3.2 Eastern Pomo: split-S and fluid-S case marking	95
	3.3.3 Dyirbal: the layered structure of the clause in a non-configurational language	97
3.4	Case marking in causative constructions	102
4	Intraclausal syntax	107
4.0	Introduction	107

4.1	The notion of pivot	108
4.2	Pivot versus topic	124
4.3	The development of pragmatic pivots from topics: the Philippine case	134
4.4	Passive constructions	149
4.5	Antipassive constructions	168
4.6	Universal constructions and individual grammars	181
5	Juncture and operators	187
5.0	Introduction	187
5.1	Juncture	188
5.2	Serialization and the lexicon	197
5.3	Operators	208
5.4	English auxiliary order	225
5.5	The layered structure of the clause in configurational and non-configurational languages	234
6	Nexus	238
6.0	Introduction	238
6.1	A typology of nexus types	239
6.2	Interaction of nexus and juncture	244
	6.2.1 Coordinate nexus	244
	6.2.2 Subordinate nexus	249
	6.2.3 Cosubordinate nexus	256
	6.2.4 Summary	263
6.3	Semantic relations of clause linkage	264
	6.3.1 Syntactic bondedness hierarchy	264
	6.3.2 Interclausal semantic relations hierarchy	268
	6.3.3 Silverstein's theory of clause–clause logical relations	272
6.4	Morphosyntactic consequences of clause linkage	274
	6.4.1 Nominalization	275
	6.4.2 Case marking elaboration and reduction	277
	6.4.3 Antipassivization and suspension of ergative case marking	279
	6.4.4 Reference maintenance in tight linkage	302
	6.4.5 Markedness relations in clause linkage	303
	6.4.6 Summary	303
6.5	Aspects of English core junctures	304
6.6	Appendix: a note on creativity	319
7	Systems of discourse cohesion: reference-tracking mechanisms	321
7.0	Introduction	321
7.1	A typology of reference-tracking mechanisms	322
7.2	Gender systems	325

7.3 Switch-reference systems 339
7.4 Switch-function systems 354
7.5 Cooccurrence and interaction 360
7.6 Conclusion: from predicate to discourse 367

Notes 375
References 398
Topics index 411
Language index 415

List of tables

Table 1 Syntactic and semantic tests for verb classification 37
Table 2 Verb classes and logical structures 39
Table 3 Dowty's verb classification 40
Table 4 Logical structures and semantic relations 53
Table 5 Tagalog verbal affixes 72
Table 6 Summary of passive constructions 169
Table 7 Foregrounding passive and antipassive 170
Table 8 Typology of antipassive constructions 181
Table 9 Universal passive and antipassive constructions 182
Table 10 The English auxiliary 232
Table 11 Nexus and juncture possibilities 263
Table 12 Jacaltec clause–clause linkage categories 298
Table 13 Yimas gender class markers 328
Table 14 Switch-reference v. switch-function systems 355

List of figures

Figure 1 Actor/Undergoer hierarchy 59
Figure 2 The layered structure of the clause 78
Figure 3 Distinctiveness of grammatical relations from semantic roles 124
Figure 4 Continuum of pivot types 167
Figure 5 Mapping between logical structure and syntactic structure 186
Figure 6 The layered structure of the clause 187
Figure 7 Juncture types 188
Figure 8 Core and nuclear operators 216
Figure 9 The layered structure of the clause with operators 224
Figure 10 Three nexus types 242
Figure 11 Syntactic bondedness hierarchy 267
Figure 12 Interclausal semantic relations hierarchy 269
Figure 13 Interclausal relations hierarchy [IRH] 270
Figure 14 Logical relations of clauses 272
Figure 15 Case hierarchies 277
Figure 16 Interaction of clause linkage and reference tracking in English 365
Figure 17 Interaction of clause linkage and reference tracking in Barai 366