Contents

	List of contributors	page ix
	Preface	xi
1.	Long-distance anaphora: an overview Eric Reuland and Jan Koster	1
2.	Containment and connectedness anaphors Lars Hellan	27
3.	Long-distance reflexives and the typology of NPs Höskuldur Thráinsson	49
4.	Contextual determination of the anaphor/pronominal distinction Martin Everaert	77
5.	On the interaction between antecedent-government and binding: the case of long-distance reflexivization Pierre Pica	119
6.	Binding in Polish Ewa Reinders-Machowska	137
7.	Anaphors in binary trees: an analysis of Czech reflexives Jindřich Toman	151
8.	Latin long-distance anaphora Elena Benedicto	171
9.	Prepositions, binding and θ-marking Alessandra Giorgi	185
10.	Locality, parameters and some issues in Italian syntax M. Rita Manzini	209

11. Long-distance binding in Finnish 231
Marlies van Steenbergen

12. The primacy condition of anaphora and pronominal variable binding 245
É. Kiss Katalin

13. The local nature of the long-distance reflexive in Chinese 263
C.-T. James Huang and C.-C. Jane Tang

14. Anaphors and logophors: an argument structure perspective 283
Tanya Reinhart and Eric Reuland

References 323

Index 335