

Contents

Acknowledgments..... vii

Introduction: Cracking the Mirror of History: Or, Shaping Identity in African American Drama..... ix

Trudier Harris

1. "Education has spoiled many a good plow hand":
How Beneatha's Knowledge Functions in A Raisin in the Sun..... 1

Rachelle S. Gold

2. Dutchman's Signifyin(g) Subway: How Amiri Baraka
Takes Ralph Ellison Underground 21

Matthew Luter

3. No Blues for Mister Henry: Locating Richard's Revolution 39

Meredith M. Malburne

4. African Queens and Messed-Up Chicks: Representations of Identity in Alice Childress's Wine in the Wilderness..... 59

Joy E. Cranshaw

5. Child's play: Ntozake Shange's Audience of Colored Girls
Pamela Hamilton 79

6. Flyin' "Anyplace Else": (Dis)Engaging Traumatic Memory in Three Plays by Pearl Cleage	99
Benjamin Sammons
7. "A World Made in My Image": Romare Bearden's Collagist Technique in August Wilson's Joe Turner's Come and Gone	121
John M. Hannah
8. Signifying Raisin : Hansberry's A Raisin in the Sun and Wilson's Fences	153
John M. Hannah
9. Folding and Unfolding History: Identity Fabrication in Suzan-Lori Parks's Topdog/Underdog	183
Jennifer Larson
10. "With Deliberate Calculation": Money, Sex, and the Black Playwright in Suzan-Lori Parks's Venus	203
Jennifer Larson
 List of Contributors	 219