

Contents

Preface . . . . .	V
List of conference participants . . . . .	VII
Alex Agutter
The dangers of dialect parochialism: the Scottish vowel length rule . . . . .	1
Anders Ahlqvist
Remarks on the question of dialects in Old Irish . . . . .	23
Henning Andersen
Center and periphery: adoption, diffusion, and spread . . . . .	39
Lyle Campbell
Syntactic change in Finnish dialects . . . . .	85
Fran Colman
What is in a name? . . . . .	111
Anthonij Dees
Propositions for the study of Old French and its dialects . . . . .	139
Wolf-Peter Funk
Dialects wanting homes: a numerical approach to the early varieties of Coptic . . . . .	149
Ives Goddard
Stylistic dialects in Fox linguistic change . . . . .	193
Manfred Görlach
The study of early Modern English variation — the Cinderella of English historical linguistics . . . . .	211
Camiël Hamans
The unnaturalness of naturalness . . . . .	229
Raymond Hickey
A lost Middle English dialect . . . . .	235

Kenneth C. Hill
The phonological incorporation of Spanish into Mexicano (Nahuatl) . . . . .	273
Hans Henrich Hock
Historical implications of a dialectological approach to con- vergence . . . . .	283
Ernst Håkon Jahr
Social dialect influence in language change: the halting of a sound change in Oslo Norwegian . . . . .	329
Helmut Lüdtke
The importance of dialectology for a new look at Romance linguistic history . . . . .	337
Witold Mańczak
Bartoli's second "norm" . . . . .	349
Thomas L. Markey
Ladin and other relic language forms in the eastern Alpine region . . . . .	357
Harold Paddock
The actuation problem for gender change in Wessex versus Newfoundland . . . . .	377
Hans Peters
On the state and possible aims of Middle English word ge- ography . . . . .	397
Herbert Pilch
Dialectology in historical grammar . . . . .	417
Patricia Poussa
The relative WHAT: two kinds of evidence . . . . .	443
Dennis R. Preston
Change in the perception of language varieties . . . . .	475
Pieter Th. van Reenen—Lene Schøsler
Formation and evolution of the feminine and masculine nom- inative singular nouns in Old French la maison(s) and li charbons . . . . .	505

Ø Peter Trudgill
On the role of dialect contact and interdialect in linguistic change . . . . .	547
Ø Herbert Voith
The history of voicing of initial fricatives in Southern England: a case of conflict between regional and social dialect . . . .	565
Manfred Voss
Old English glossaries and dialectology . . . . .	601
Ø Martyn F. Wakelin
The phonology of South-Western English 1500–1700 . . . .	609
Peter Wiesinger
Die Vokalentwicklungen des Neiderländisch-Schlesischen in strukturgeographisch-strukturhistorischer Sicht . . . . .	645
Werner Winter
Metaphors in dialectological diction. A critical note . . . .	679
Index of Names . . . . .	687