

Contents

I. Introduction

Edgar C. Polomé
Language change and the Saussurean dichotomy: Diachrony versus synchrony	3
Werner Winter
Linguistic reconstruction: The scope of historical and comparative linguistics	11

II. Aspects of Language Change

Franklin C. Southworth
Synchronic manifestations of linguistic change	25
Irmengard Rauch
Evidence of language change	37
Joseph Salmons
The context of language change	71
Methods to Study Language Change
Thomas Cable
Philology: Analysis of written records	97
Bridget Drinka
The chronology of phonological change	107
Edgar C. Polomé
Linguistic paleontology: Migration theory, prehistory, and archeology correlated with linguistic data	137
Raven I. McDavid, Jr.
Linguistic geography and language change	161
Carlota S. Smith
Psycholinguistics: A research review	175

John A. Rea
Lexicostatistics	217

Theoretical Models of Change

Kurt R. Jankowsky
The Neogrammarian hypothesis	223
Archibald A. Hill
A structural view of sound-change	241
Robert D. King
The transformational-generative model	249

Other Approaches

Peter Trudgill
Dialect geography	257
John Baugh
Social stratification of language	273
Franklin Southworth
Contact and interference	281

III. Types of Language Change

Phonological Change

Elmer H. Antonsen
Phonetic, phonemic, and phonotactic change	297
Robert Kyes
Evidence	303
Elmer H. Antonsen
Structuralist interpretation	307
Robert J. Harms
Synchronic rules and diachronic "laws": The Saussurean dichotomy reaffirmed	313
Frans van Coetsem and Susan McCormick
Morphophonology	325
Philip Baldi and William R. Schmalstieg
Morphological change	347
Winfred P. Lehmann
Syntactic change	365

Lexical Change

Ladislav Zgusta
Onomasiological change: Sachen -change reflected by Wörter	389
John Algeo
Semantic change	399
John Algeo
Borrowing	409
Edgar C. Polomé
Etymology	415

Change of Languages

Henry M. Hoenigswald
Language families and subgroupings, tree model and wave theory, and reconstruction of protolanguages	441
Thomas L. Markey
The development of standard language (koine) and dialect: Language split and dialect merger	455
P. Sture Ureland
Contact linguistics: Research on linguistic areas, strata, and interference in Europe	471
Ian Hancock
Creolization and language change	507
Nicole Domingue
Bi- and multilingualism: Code-switching, interference and hybrids	527
Subject Index	535
Language Index	548
Author Index	553