

Contents

Preface . . . . .	v
Introduction . . . . .	1
Understanding linguistic innovations . . . . . Henning Andersen	5
On the causes of syntactic change in English . . . . . Leiv Egil Breivik	29
Pragmatics and syntactic change . . . . . Jan Terje Faarlund	71
Language planning and language change . . . . . Ernst Håkon Jahr	99
The origin and function of switch reference in Green Hmong . . . . . Charles N. Li	115
Invisible-hand processes and the universal laws of language change . . . . . Helmut Lüdtke	131
On the causes of accelerated linguistic change in the Pacific area . . . . . Peter Mühlhäusler	137
Sound change is drawn from a pool of synchronic variation . . . . . John J. Ohala	173
The role of children in linguistic change . . . . . Suzanne Romaine	199
Contact and isolation in linguistic change . . . . . Peter Trudgill	227
Some contact structures in Scandinavian, Dutch, and Raeto-Romansh: inner-linguistic and/or contact causes of language change . . . . . P. Sture Ureland	239
Index . . . . .	277