

Contents

Introduction

Rajendra Singh Natural Phono(morpho)logy: A view from the outside	1
--	---

Part I: Theoretical

Wolfgang U. Dressler Principles of naturalness in phonology and across components	41
--	----

Katarzyna Dziubalska-Kořaczyk Natural Phonology without the syllable	53
---	----

Bernhard Hurch Accentuations	73
---------------------------------------	----

Julián Méndez Dosuna Can weakening processes start in initial position? The case of aspiration of /s/ and /f/	97
---	----

Geoffrey S. Nathan Steps towards a cognitive phonology	107
---	-----

Richard H. Wojcik and James E. Hoard The application of Natural Phonology to computerized speech understanding ...	121
---	-----

Part II: Descriptive

Marianne Kilani-Schoch Syllable and foot in French clipping	135
--	-----

Michele Loporcaro On the analysis of geminates in Standard Italian and Italian dialects	153
--	-----

Liliana Madelska and Wolfgang U. Dressler Postlexical stress processes and their segmental consequences illustrated in Polish and Czech	189
---	-----

Eva Mayerthaler Stress, syllables, and segments: Their interplay in an Italian dialect continuum	201
---	-----

Carmen Pensado Portuguese secondary nasal vowels and phonological representations	223
Richard A. Rhodes English reduced vowels and the nature of natural processes	239
Elke Ronneberger-Sibold Preferred sound shapes of new roots: On some phonotactic and prosodic properties of shortenings in German and French	261
References	293
Subject Index	333
Index of Languages	341
Index of Authors	343