

Contents

| | | |
|--|----------------------|------|
| Foreword | ANNE COLLINS | viii |
| Preface | JOHN E. FRANKLIN | ix |
| Dictionaries | | x |
| Introduction | ROBERT ILSON | xii |
| Opening remarks | SIR RANDOLPH QUIRK | I |
| * Dr Johnson and the English phrasal verb | N. E. OSSELTON | 7 |
| * The Oxford English Dictionary | ROBERT BURCHFIELD | 17 |
| * The history of lexicography | ALLEN WALKER READ | 28 |
| * British and American lexicography | ROBERT ILSON | 51 |
| * The ideal dictionary, lexicographer and user | DAVID CRYSTAL | 72 |
| Preparation for lexicography as a career in the United States | EDWARD GATES | 82 |
| The training and professional development of lexicographers in the UK | R. R. K. HARTMANN | 89 |
| Training lexicographers: some problems | ALAIN REY | 93 |
| The training and professional development of lexicographers in Germany | FRANZ JOSEF HAUSMANN | 101 |

| | | |
|----------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-----|
| The training of dictionary users | JANET WHITCUT | 111 |
| Dictionaries of the next century | RICHARD W. BAILEY | 123 |
| Summation | LADISLAV ZGUSTA | 138 |
| Final recommendations | GABRIELE STEIN | 147 |
| Concluding remarks | GABRIELE STEIN & JOHN HERRINGTON | 153 |
| Programme of the colloquium | | 155 |
| Participants | | 157 |
| Index | DAVID CRYSTAL | 159 |