Contents

Acknowledgments ix
Abbreviations xi

Introduction: Morality, Abstract or Concrete? 1

PART I: THE CONCEPT OF A FOUNDING ACT OF ETHICAL LIFE

1. Why Does Hegel Charge Kant's Moral Theory with Emptiness?
   1. Hegel vs. Kant, The Caricature, 10
   3. Hegel's Notion of Ethical Life as Making Actual Kantian Morality, 17
   4. The Question of Moral Motivation in the Reason Section of the Phenomenology of Spirit, 22

2. Kant's Theory of Moral Motivation and Philosophy of History
   1. Kant's Theory of Moral Motivation, 34
   2. Kant's Philosophy of History and Theory of Moral-Political Progress, 39
   3. Hegel's Question: How Does a Form of Ethical Life Come into Existence? 47

3. Hegel's Conception of a Founding Act of Ethical Life
   1. The Transition from Reason to Spirit in the Phenomenology of Spirit, 51
   2. Hegel's Conception of a Founding Act of Ethical Life, 54
PART II: THE FOUNDING ACT OF MODERN ETHICAL LIFE

4. The Question of the Actuality of the Rational
   1. The Question of Interpreting Hegel's Practical Philosophy, 74
   2. The Actuality of the Rational: The Interpretative and Critical Debate, 78

5. The Question of Hegel's View of War
   1. Hegel on War: The Interpretative and Critical Debate, 96
   2. Objections to the Descriptive Reading, 98
   3. The Interpretative Burden, 104

6. War and the Foundation of the Modern State
   1. The Actualization of the Modern State, 107
   2. The Foundation of the State in the Phenomenology of Spirit and in the Philosophy of Right, 111
   3. The French Revolution and the Napoleonic Wars, 116
   4. The Ethical Moment of War, 120
   5. War and Hegel's Philosophy of History, 130

7. The Last Act of Practical Philosophy
   1. Morality, Abstract and Concrete, 140
   2. The Founding Myth of Practical Philosophy, 144
   3. The Last Act of Practical Philosophy, 147

References 161
Index 171