

Contents

Preface	ix
1. Of water and a wilderness: from Jesus to John and back	I
Introduction	1
From Josephus to the historical John	7
From the gospels to the historical John	16
John as prophetic insider and outsider	29
John the Baptist in community context	35
Jesus in the context of John	42
John the Baptist in resurrection perspective	49
2. New life, new labour: terms of reference for ‘following Jesus’	53
Introduction	53
On making contact with the historical Jesus	55
Disciples and followers	60
New life, new labour	67
Following and eating together	77
Old family, new family	84
Equality at risk: the riddle of Simon Peter	97
Jesus’ inner circle: roles and relationships	105
Discipleship in resurrection perspective	114
3. ‘Waiting for’ and ‘waiting on’: learning to pray the Jesus way	121
Introduction	121
Prayer, healing and wholeness	127
The model prayer	132
The Lord’s Prayer: on divine parenthood	135

The model prayer: on hoping for a new world	138
The model prayer: on coping with hunger	145
The Lord's Prayer: on forgiving and being forgiven	148
The model prayer: on facing the ultimate test	157
Praying in the afterglow of resurrection	158
Epilogue	166
4. Polarities confirmed or confronted: the search for wholeness	169
Introduction	169
Jesus the Jew and the gentiles	171
Jesus the Jew and the Samaritans	178
Jesus and the community of holiness	188
Jesus, the prosperous and the poor	205
Jesus the man and the women	214
Polarities in resurrection perspective	224
5. Place and people in jeopardy: echoes of Jeremiah	226
Introduction	226
First variation: from grandeur to rubble	238
Second variation: from presence to absence	242
Third variation: from destruction to replacement	255
Fourth variation: a shock to the system	263
6. Celebrating in the darkness: 'They shall be my people'	278
Introduction	278
Jesus and atonement	279
Meal and meaning	284
Celebrating in resurrection light	298
Conclusion: Jewish people, Jesus people and Easter people	301
Publications mentioned in the text	307
Index of ancient texts	312
Index of modern authors	324