Preface to first edition	vii
Preface to second edition	ix
List of contributors	xi
1 Basic Principles
1.1 Mathematics, formulae and equations	1.2
John Ratcliff
1.2 Units used in audio engineering	1.11
John Ratcliff
1.3 The physics of sound waves	1.29
Michael Talbot-Smith
1.4 The hearing process	1.38
J. Patrick Wilson
1.5 Perceptual audio coding	1.49
Louis D. Fielder
1.6 Noise measurement	1.70
Glynn Parry and Richard Tyler
1.7 Electromechanical analogies	1.84
Michael Gayford
1.8 Introduction to digital audio	1.98
Roger Derry
2 Acoustics and acoustic devices
2.1 Room acoustics	2.2
Bob Walker
2.2 Sound isolation and noise control	2.21
Bob Walker
2.3 Microphones	2.37
Michael Talbot-Smith and Chris Woolf
2.4 Loudspeakers and headphones	2.52
John Borwick
2.5 Stereo	2.65
Francis Rumsey
2.6 Microphones for stereo	2.81
Francis Rumsey
2.7 Analogue sound mixing equipment	2.99
John L. Andrews

2.8	Power amplifiers, control units and preamplifiers	2.116
	Peter Baxandall
2.9	Limiters and compressors	2.149
	Alan Tutton
3	Recording and reproduction
3.1	Analogue tape recording	3.2
	Andy Wilson
3.2	Noise reduction systems	3.25
	Kenneth Gundry
3.3	Compact disc	3.44
	Jan Arts
3.4	Digital audio tape	3.64
	Jan Maes
3.5	Audio editing	3.86
	Douglas Ford
3.6	Audio measurements and test equipment	3.94
	Peter Skirrow
4	Digital equipment
4.1	Artificial reverberation devices	4.2
	Terry Clarke
4.2	Digital mixing and filtering	4.8
	David Mellor
4.3	MIDI	4.17
	Francis Rumsey
5	Studios and their facilities
5.1	Radio studio facilities	5.2
	Malcolm Nelson
5.2	Facilities required in recording studios	5.17
	Peter Harris
5.3	Facilities required in television sound control rooms	5.33
	Larry Goodson and John Howell
5.4	Studio installations for local radio	5.44
	Peter Jackson

5.5	Outside broadcast and mobile equipment and operations Geoff Atkins	5.62
5.6	The tapeless studio Yasmin Hashmi	5.79
5.7	Studio air-conditioning systems Tim Robinson	5.89
6	Distribution of audio signals
6.1	Telephony David M. Davidson	6.2
6.2	Telephony transmission systems David M. Davidson	6.20
6.3	Radio propagation David C. Yates	6.35
6.4	Transmission developments: NICAM and RDS Bev Marks	6.46

6.5	Digital audio interfacing, synchronization and networks Francis Rumsey	6.57
7	Miscellaneous topics
7.1	Ultrasonics Steven Dixon	7.2
7.2	International standards for sound systems and equipment Vivian Weeks	7.19
7.3	Digital time signals John Ratcliff	7.33
7.4	Health and safety John Ratcliff	7.38
7.5	Portable appliance testing John Ratcliff	7.54
