

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments

Chapter 1. Introduction	1
Notes	12
Chapter 2. On regression and boundedness in antecedent contained deletions	13
1. Introduction	13
2. Regress in ACDs	13
3. On regress and relative clauses	15
4. Some predictions	22
5. On boundedness in ACDs	32
6. Consequences	41
Notes	43
Chapter 3. Referentiality and multiple-wh constructions	49
1. Introduction	49
2. Huang on adjunct superiority effects	50
3. On Huang's analysis of adjunct superiority effects	52
4. Hornstein's analysis of adjunct superiority effects	58
5. Stroik's analysis of multiple-wh constructions	62
6. Extending Stroik's analysis to adjunct superiority effects	63
7. Speculations	71
8. Conclusion	82
Notes	83
Chapter 4. Extraposition and expletive-movement	89
1. Introduction	89
2. On the relationship between object-expletives and CPs	92
3. Object-expletives and movement	97
4. On the relationship between subject-expletives and CPs	99
5. Some predictions	102
6. Conclusion	110
Notes	112

Chapter 5. Do so and the light verb hypothesis	117
1. Introduction	117
2. Do so constructions	119
3. Some consequences	126
4. Conclusion	133
Notes	134
Chapter 6. On argument demotion	138
1. Introduction	138
2. Reinhart and Reuland's theory of reflexivity	141
3. Reflexivity, predication, and argument-adjuncts	146
4. Properties of demoted arguments	158
5. Argument demotion in non-passive constructions	162
6. Conclusion	169
Notes	170
Chapter 7. Conclusion	173
References	179