

Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	1
1. The Word and the Flesh in Early Modern England	11
2. Beneath the Skin: George Puttenham, Sir Philip Sidney and the Experience of English Poetry	35
3. Arming the Reader: Sir Philip Sidney and the Literature of Cholera	52
4. 'These Spots are but the Letters': John Donne and the Medicaments of Elegy	73
5. Eating His Words: Thomas Coryat and the Art of Indigestion	93
6. Touching Stories: Richard Braithwait, Thomas Cranley and the Origins of English Pornography	115
Afterword	135
Notes	139
Select Bibliography	179
Index	193