

Contents

	Page
List of tables	ix
Authors	x
Acknowledgements	xi
Foreword	xii
1 Summary	1
1.1 On-line information retrieval in public libraries	1
1.2 The Lancashire Library	2
1.3 Establishment of the on-line service	2
1.4 Operation of the on-line service	4
1.5 Publicity	5
1.6 User evaluation	6
1.7 Library staff responses	8
1.8 Other effects	9
1.8.1 Intermediary reactions	9
1.8.2 Document access	10
2 On-line information retrieval and public libraries	12
2.1 On-line information retrieval: advantages and limitations	12
2.2 On-line in public libraries	13
2.3 The evaluation of on-line information-retrieval services	14
2.4 The BIROS (Bibliographical Information Retrieval On-line Service) project	15
2.5 Research methods	16
2.6 Postscript	17
3 The Lancashire Library and its reference services	18
3.1 The Lancashire Library: general description	18
3.2 Reference provision	19
3.4 Reference procedures	20
4 The establishment of the Bibliographical Information Retrieval On-line Service	22
4.1 Management aspects	22
4.1.1 Initial service concept	22
4.1.2 Market research	23
4.1.3 Project planning	23
4.1.4 Charging	24
4.2 Technical aspects	25
4.2.1 Equipment	25
4.2.2 Systems and databases	25
4.2.3 Search request form and search report form	27

4.3	Staff aspects	27
4.3.1	Intermediary staff	27
4.3.2	Training	28
4.4	Searches from the request service and from county council departments: pre-public phase	28
5	The operation of the on-line service	30
5.1	Procedures	30
5.2	Searches	31
5.2.1	Direct search requests	31
5.2.2	Request service searches	35
5.2.3	Times and costs summary	36
5.2.4	Searches at demonstrations	36
5.3	Intermediary staff time analysis	36
5.3.1	Time spent on searches	36
5.3.2	CIRS Librarian's time and activities	37
6	Publicity	39
6.1	Demonstrations and publicity for members of staff	39
6.2	General publicity	40
6.2.1	Demonstrations	40
6.2.2	Publicity and demonstration materials	41
6.3	Professional publicity	42
6.4	Other publicity	43
7	Evaluation I: users	44
7.1	Early attitudes and evaluation	44
7.1.1	County council staff	45
7.1.2	Lancashire Area Health Authority	45
7.1.3	Academic institutions: teaching and library staff	46
7.1.4	Business people and industrialists	46
7.2	Interview and postal questionnaire data collection	47
7.3	Interview data	48
7.3.1	Users: background characteristics	48
7.3.2	Examples of typical users	49
7.3.3	Search details	50
7.3.4	Search evaluation	52
7.3.5	Typical comments from users and intermediaries	56
7.3.6	User reactions to costs and charges	57
7.3.7	Application of the search results	58
7.4	Postal questionnaire responses	61
7.4.1	Background characteristics	61
7.4.2	Reasons for search request and evaluation of output	62
7.4.3	User reaction to costs and charges	63
7.4.4	After-effects	64

8	Evaluation II: library staff response	66
8.1	Early attitudes	66
8.2	Limited questionnaire	69
8.3	Interview data	71
8.3.1	Existing knowledge of, and sources of information about, on-line information retrieval and BIROS	72
8.3.2	Dissemination of information about BIROS	73
8.3.3	Assistance for users with BIROS queries	74
8.3.4	Value of on-line in the Lancashire Library	75
8.3.5	Knowledge of, and attitude towards, charges	76
9	Evaluation III: impact on intermediaries and document access	77
9.1	Interviews with intermediaries	77
9.1.1	Introduction	77
9.1.2	Introduction of BIROS and its effects on job content	77
9.1.3	Acquisition of search skills	78
9.1.4	Effect on job satisfaction	78
9.1.5	Organizational changes	79
9.1.6	Attitude change	80
9.2	Impact on document access	80
9.2.1	Analysis of citations retrieved	80
9.2.2	Inter-loan requests	82
9.2.3	Inter-library loan requests	83
10	Conclusions	85
10.1	On-line in the public library	85
10.2	Staff	86
10.3	Users	87
10.4	Search success	88
10.5	Costs and charges	88
10.6	Summary and recommendations	89
	References	90
Appendix 1	Figures	93
Appendix 2	Tables	95
Appendix 3	Lancashire Library Reference Services	97
Appendix 4	Forms	101
Appendix 5	Internal loan requests	105
Appendix 6	Sample of search topics	108
Appendix 7	Awareness and attitudes to on-line information retrieval services — Birmingham Public Library	109
	Other reports	113

List of tables

	Page
1.1 Summary of search times and costs	5
4.1 Initial list of system and database manuals, user aids, thesauri etc.	26
5.1 Origin of BIROS requests (direct and demonstration requests) January 1979 - March 1980	31
5.2 Database usage	33
5.3 On-line searching costs	34
5.4 Summary of search times	36
5.5 Staff time spent on direct search requests	37
7.1 Organizational affiliation of users	48
7.2 Reasons for search request: information-related	51
7.3 Intermediary and user search assessment	53
7.4 Value of search by query satisfaction	53
7.5 Query satisfaction by information reasons	54
7.6 Measures of retrieval and relevance	55
7.7 Organizational affiliation of questionnaire respondents	62
7.8 Willingness to pay search costs	63
7.9 Willingness to pay search costs by value judgement	64
8.1 Number of staff with 'knowledge' of specified systems	69
8.2 Number of systems 'known' by staff type	70
8.3 Number of staff responding that they had carried out, or had carried out on their behalf, an on-line search.	70
9.1 Cited materials other than journals	80
9.2 Availability of cited journal articles	81
9.3 Analysis of a sample of internal requests, October 1978 - December 1979	82
9.4 Inter-library loan requests (excluding books) January 1979 - March 1980	83
9.5 Inter-library loan requests, Edge Hill College, 1978 - 1980	84