

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
CHAPTER ONE: The Problem and Theoretical Approach	1
CHAPTER TWO: Methodology and Methods	27
1. Discourse Analysis	29
a. Opening Pandora's Box	29
b. Mailloux and Others	34
c. Limitations of Discourse Analysis	39
2. The Focus of My Analysis	40
3. Outline	41
a. General Path Procedures and Texts to Be Analyzed	41
b. Chapter Procedures	43
c. Definitions of Terms Specific to This Study	44
CHAPTER THREE: The Recent Period	46
1. Convention A: Naming the Subject	50
a. Librarian Authors	50
b. Non-Librarian Authors	55
2. Convention B: Irony	58
a. History	58
b. Theory	61
c. Pragmatism	64
3. Convention C: Enmity	65

4. Convention D: Status and Professionalism	67
CHAPTER FOUR: Pre-1950s	78
1. Historical Contexts	81
2. Carnegie Corporation of New York	88
a. General Background	88
b. The Williamson Report	88
c. The Advisory Group on College Libraries	93
d. GLS and "Research"	98
3. Documentation	108
4. Summary	109
CHAPTER FIVE: 1950s to 1968	112
1. Information "Explosion"	116
2. Documentation, ADI	121
3. Egan, 1954	123
4. Ridenour, Shaw, Hill, 1952	125
5. Shera's American Documentation Editorials	129
6. The Popular Literature	132
7. Shera's 1960s Writings	136
8. Education of Professionals	141
9. Conclusion	141
CHAPTER SIX: Late 1960s to 1970s	144
1. Interpretative Conventions of Caution	147
a. Shera's Foundations	149
b. Wasserman	153
c. Vagianos	155

2. Retained Conventions of Subordination	157
a. Katz	157
b. Hug	161
c. Houser and Schrader	163
3. Information Science Conventions	165
a. Shera	167
b. West	168
c. Little	170
4. Summary	171
CHAPTER SEVEN: Summary	173
References Cited	192
Index	209