

Table of Contents

Preface: Reading Media Critically	xiii
SHIRLEY R. STEINBERG
Introduction: Deconstructing the Corporate Media/Government Nexus	xvii
DONALDO MACEDO
Part One: Reading Media Critically
Chapter One: Critical Media Literacy, Democracy, and the Reconstruction of Education	3
DOUGLAS KELLNER AND JEFF SHARE
Chapter Two: Preface to The Myth of the Liberal Media: An Edward Herman Reader	24
NOAM CHOMSKY
Chapter Three: Word Tricks and Propaganda	27
EDWARD S. HERMAN
Chapter Four: Toward a Democratic Media	36
EDWARD S. HERMAN

Chapter Five: Critical Media Literacy for the Twenty-First Century: Taking Our Entertainment Seriously	54
PEPI LEISTYNA AND LORETTA ALPER
Chapter Six: Chomsky, the Empire, and Media Literacy: Contextualizing Chomsky's "New World Order"	79
JOE L. KINCHELOE
Chapter Seven: The New World Order	86
NOAM CHOMSKY
Chapter Eight: Their Atrocities—and Ours (NATO Bombs Killing Innocent People)	91
HOWARD ZINN
Chapter Nine: Language and Institutional Perversions in a Time of Painful Birth Pangs	95
EDWARD S. HERMAN
Chapter Ten: Television Violence at a Time of Turmoil and Terror	103
GEORGE GERBNER
Chapter Eleven: Media Knowledges, Warrior Citizenry, and Postmodern Literacies	116
PETER MCLAREN AND RHONDA HAMMER
Chapter Twelve: Media Power (Per-)Formed: The Strategies of Communication Technology and Their Consequences to the Built Environment	140
RICK DOLPHIJN
Chapter Thirteen: Visual and Verbal Thinking: Constraining and Enhancing Meaning	149
PHILIP M. ANDERSON
Chapter Fourteen: Socialization in the Changing Information Environment: Implications for Media Literacy	157
VERONIKA KALMUS
Chapter Fifteen: The Hyper-Reality That Never Happened: Expanding Digital Discourse	166
MARCUS BREEN
Chapter Sixteen: Media Mindfulness	178
GINA M. SERAFIN
Chapter Seventeen: Alternative Media: The Art of Rebellion	181
ZACK FURNESS
Chapter Eighteen: Reading Race, Reading Power	197
C. RICHARD KING
Chapter Nineteen: Putting Reality Together: The Media and Channel One as a Platform of Antidialogic Cultural Action	206
JOÃO PARASKEVA
Chapter Twenty: The Semantics of Connection and Alienation in Hyper-Reality	222
ANTHONY M. ROSSELLI

Part Two: Doing Media Literacy

Chapter Twenty-one: Drowning Democracy: The Media, Neoliberalism, and the Politics of Hurricane Katrina HENRY A. GIROUX	229
Chapter Twenty-two: Call Him a Terrorist, the Rest Is Covered: Political Murder in the U.S. Colony of Puerto Rico JOSÉ SOLÍS JORDÁN	242
Chapter Twenty-three: The Aesthetic Pleasures of War: Understanding Propaganda in an Age of Television ANTONIO LÓPEZ	256
Chapter Twenty-four: Pictorial Clashes on the Medial Body of Violence: Abu Ghraib, Nick Berg, and John Paul II BIRGIT RICHARD	273
Chapter Twenty-five: Photographic Encounters of the Western Frontier KALLI PAAKSPUU	288
Chapter Twenty-six: Hollywood's Curriculum of Arabs and Muslims in Two Acts SHIRLEY R. STEINBERG	299
Chapter Twenty-seven: Culture Weds Capital: A Critical Reading of Gurinder Chadha's Bride and Prejudice SONIYA MUNSHI	316
Chapter Twenty-eight: Bollywood Cinema and Indian Diaspora ADITYA RAJ	332
Chapter Twenty-nine: Under Siege and Out of Reach: Steven Seagal and the Paradox and Politics of New Age Masculinity WILLIAM REYNOLDS	340
Chapter Thirty: Buying and Selling Culture: Talk Show Content, Audience, and Labor as Commodities CHRISTINE QUAIL, KATHALENE A. RAZZANO, AND LOUBNA H. SKALLI	353
Chapter Thirty-one: Mobile TV and IPTV: Two New Forms of Television BENEDETTA PRARIO	368
Chapter Thirty-two: Audiences Unmasked: Selling the Aboriginal Peoples Television Network FRANCES HEYLAR	378
Chapter Thirty-three: Hunting Down Indigenous Stereotypes Through Introspection ANIE DESAUTELS	388
Chapter Thirty-four: "The toughest chick in the alien world": "Girl Power" and the Cartoon Network SANDRA CHANG-KREDL	395
Chapter Thirty-five: Just Like Lizzie : Consumerism, Essentialism, and the Domestication of Rebellion in Disney's Lizzie McGuire LARAINE WALLOWITZ	405

Chapter Thirty-six: Television's Mature Women: A Changing Media Archetype: From Bewitched to The Sopranos MYRNA A. HANT	422
Chapter Thirty-seven: Bewitched . . . the 1960s Sitcom Revisited: A Queer Read PATRICIA FAIRFIELD-ARTMAN, RODNEY E. LIPPARD, AND ADRIENNE SANSOM	433
Chapter Thirty-eight: Masculinities on The O.C. : A Critical Analysis of Representations of Gender ELIZABETH J. MEYER	454
Chapter Thirty-nine: Queer Youths Reframing Media Culture ROB LINNÉ	463
Chapter Forty: We're Here, We're Queer . . . but Have You Dealt with It? Homosexuality in Today's Media JIMMY KALAMARAS	470
Chapter Forty-one: Machinima : Gamers Start Playing Director ROBERT JONES	486
Chapter Forty-two: Raging Against the Machine: The Internet and Teen Suicide TERESA RISHEL	492
Chapter Forty-three: CyBjörk: The Representations of Donna Haraway's A Cyborg Manifesto Within Björk's Music and Video ELEONOR BERRY	501
Chapter Forty-four: Croc This! Articulating Young Feminine Identity Through Lacoste GIULIANA CUCINELLI	514
Chapter Forty-five: Call Center Job Advertisements in India PAPIA RAJ	522

Part Three: Media Literacy and Pedagogy

Chapter Forty-six: The Need for Critical Media Literacy in Teacher Education Core Curricula MYRIAM N. TORRES AND MARIA D. MERCADO	537
Chapter Forty-seven: Literacy and Learning Through Digital Media: Education or Contradiction? LESLIE B. MASHBURN AND JOHN A. WEAVER	559
Chapter Forty-eight: "Diving into the Wreck": Mystory Writing to Enact Critical Media Literacy CINDY MEYER SABIK, BETHANY DAVIN, CAROLYNE J. WHITE	567
Chapter Forty-nine: School of (Punk) Rock: An Autobiographical Rant on Education ANTONIO LÓPEZ	576

Chapter Fifty: Punk Rock, Hip Hop, and the Politics of Human Resistance: Reconstituting the Social Studies Through Critical Media Literacy CURRY MALOTT AND BRAD PORFILIO	582
Chapter Fifty-one: Social Education and Critical Media Literacy: Can Mr. Potato Head Help Challenge Binaries, Essentialism, and Orientalism? ÖZLEM SENSOY	593
Chapter Fifty-two: Critical Media Literacy to Counter Muslim Stereotypes LEANNE JOHNNY AND SHAHEEN SHARIFF	603
Chapter Fifty-three: Toward Teaching Social Studies Through Critical Poststructural Constructs LEE ELLIOTT FLEISCHER	626
Chapter Fifty-four: In the Wake of Katrina: Teaching Immigrant Students Learning English About Race and Class in the United States DANIEL WALSH	644
Chapter Fifty-five: Advertising Pedagogy: Teaching and Learning Consumption MICHAEL HOECHSMANN	653
Chapter Fifty-six: Media Violence: Why Is It Used to Abuse Children? How to Oppose It and Win JACQUES BRODEUR	667
Chapter Fifty-seven: Critical Media Studies Meets Critical (Hyper-)Pedagogues KATHLEEN S. BERRY	687
About the Contributors	699