

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix

introduction. Anorectic Hedonism:

A Reader's Guide to Reading Boyishly; Novel or a Philosophical Study?
Am I a Novelist? 1

one. My Book Has a Disease 23

two. Winnicott's ABCS and String Boy 57

three. Splitting: The Unmaking of Childhood and Home 77

four. Pulling Ribbons from Mouths: Roland Barthes's Umbilical Referent 129

five. Nesting: The Boyish Labor of J. M. Barrie 163

six. Childhood Swallows: Lartigue, Proust, and a Little Wilde 253

seven. Mouth Wide Open for Proust: “A Sort of Puberty of Sorrow” 315

eight. Soufflé/Souffle 349

nine. Kissing Time 367

ten. Beautiful, Boring, and Blue: The Fullness of Proust’s Search
and Akerman’s
Jeanne Dielman 397

conclusion. Boys: “To Think a Part of One’s Body” 433

Illustrations 441

Notes 455

Index 519