

CONTENTS

Preface ix

Chapter 1 Setting the Scene 1

---

- Domain of Evaluation 3
- Definition of Evaluation 4
- What Is Evaluated? An Excursus on Terminology 6
- Outcome and Process Evaluation 8
- Contributions of Evaluation 10
- History of Evaluation 10
- Comparison between Evaluation and Other Research 15
- Summary 18

Chapter 2 Purposes of Evaluation 20

---

- Who Wants Evaluation? 20
- Overt and Covert Purposes 21
- Conditions Unfavorable for Evaluation 24
- Evaluation for Decision Making 25
- Evaluation as Organizational Learning 26
- Intended Uses for Evaluation 28
- Formative and Summative Evaluation 31
- Formative-Summative and Process-Outcome: Different
Constructs 32
- Compatibility of Purposes 33
- How Evaluations Are Commissioned 34
- Inside versus Outside Evaluation 37

Level in the Structure	39
Whose Use Shall Be Served?	41
Summary	44

Chapter 3 Understanding the Program

46

Why Program Knowledge Pays	46
Characterizing the Program	48
Getting to Know the Program	50
What Is the Program Trying to Achieve?	51
How the Program Works: Surfacing the Program's Theories of Change	55
Program Theory and Implementation Theory	57
Organizing the Evaluation to Investigate Program Theories	58
Building Program Theory	61
Using Theories of Change as a Guide to Evaluation	62
Comparing Program Theory to Actual Developments	66
Advantages of Explicating Theories of Change	67
Critiques of Program Theory	69
Summary	70

Chapter 4 Planning the Evaluation

72

The Right Time to Evaluate	73
Types of Evaluation Questions	74
Additional Decisions in the Planning Period	76
How to Decide Which Questions to Pursue	77
Specifying the Questions	81
Quantitative or Qualitative Study	82
Design of the Evaluation	87
One Study or a Fleet of Studies?	89
Designs for Different Types of Programs	90
Some Practical Plans	91
Ethical Issues	92
Summary	112

Chapter 5 Roles for the Evaluator

97

Types of Participative Roles	99
Reasons for Alternative Evaluator Roles	100
Implementing a Participatory Evaluation	103
Balance of Pros and Cons	105
Additional Limitations to Participatory Approaches	108
Ethical Issues	109
Summary	112

Chapter 6 Developing Measures*114

Measurement	115
Program Outcomes	117
Choices among Measures	123
Unanticipated Consequences	126
Interim Markers of Progress	127
Program Processes	130
Program Inputs, Resources, and Environment	132
Multiple Measures	136
How Many Measures Are Enough?	137
Measurement of Variables	137
Developing New Measures	139
Desirable Characteristics of Measures in Evaluation	144
Summary	150

Chapter 7 Collecting Data*152

Sources of Data	152
Sampling	163
Interviewing	166
Coding Responses	168
Existing Statistical Data	170
Ethical Issues in Collecting Data	175
Summary	178

Chapter 8 Design of the Evaluation*180

Designing the Process Evaluation	181
Designing the Outcome Evaluation	182
Important Concepts	184
Designs	188
Informal Designs	188
Formal Designs	191
Summary	213

Chapter 9 The Randomized Experiment*215

Random Assignment	215
Planned Variations	221
Procedures for Random Assignment	223
Coping with Difficulties That Arise	226
Conditions That Make Randomized Experiments Problematic	228
Criticisms of the Randomized Experiment	229
Summary	233

Chapter 10	Extensions of Good Design	235
	Replication	235
	Meta-Analysis	236
	Cost-Benefit and Cost-Effectiveness Analysis	244
	Summary	250
Chapter 11	Qualitative Methods	252
	Design of Qualitative Evaluations	253
	Collecting Data	256
	Fieldwork and Analysis	263
	Qualitative Evaluation and Program Theory	265
	Ethical Issues	266
	Combining Qualitative and Quantitative Approaches	267
	Summary	269
Chapter 12	Analyzing and Interpreting the Data	271
	Introduction	271
	Analytic Tasks in Evaluation	272
	General Strategies of Analysis	283
	An Example of Program Theory as a Guide to Analysis	288
	Books on Analytic Methods	290
	Ethical Issues	292
	Summary	292
Chapter 13	Writing the Report and Disseminating Results	294
	Reporting	295
	Dissemination	305
	Utilization of Evaluation Results	310
Chapter 14	Evaluating with Integrity	320
	Know the Program	321
	Maintain High Technical Quality and Relevance	321
	Use Balance and Judgment	323
	Consider Use from the Start	324
	Behave Ethically throughout the Study	325
	Survive and Reap Rewards	325
	Glossary	327
	References	340
	Index	365
