

Table of Contents

List of Tables and Figures	ii
Photographs	iii
I. Introduction: The Ubiquitous Thief	1
II. Measuring Book Loss	7
III. Theft Prevention Programs: Electronic Security Systems	31
IV. Bookstores	79
V. Library Users' Reports on Electronic Security Systems	87
VI. Alternatives to Electronic Security Systems	97
VII. Journal, Nonprint and Special Collection Protection	109
VIII. Summary and Conclusions	123
Appendix I: The Mississippi Library Materials Security Act	127
Appendix II: Libraries Using Electronic Security Systems	129
Selected Bibliography	143
Index	153
About the Author	157

List of Tables and Figures

Figure II-1.	Inventory Control Card	13
Table II-1.	Examples of Inventories	18
Table II-2.	Required Sample Sizes for Desired Precision at Expected Loss Rates with 95% Confidence	22
Figure II-2.	Summary of Proposal to Conduct an Inventory of a Library Collection	27
Figure III-1.	Warning Notice to Users of Cardiac Pacemakers	33
Figure III-2.	Actual Size of Checkpoint Targets	39
Figure III-3.	Actual Size of Gaylord/Magnavox Detector Tag	42
Figure III-4.	Electronics Module and Circulation Unit, Gaylord/Magnavox Security System	43
Figure III-5.	Interconnection Diagram, Gaylord/Magnavox Security System	44
Figure III-6.	Top View of Exit Aisle, Gaylord/Magnavox Detection Unit	45
Figure III-7.	Actual Size of Knogo Detector Tag	52
Figure III-8.	Actual Size of LPS Detector Target and Strip	58
Figure III-9.	Sentronic Activator/Deactivator	62
Figure III-10.	Actual Size of Sentronic Detection Targets	63
Figure III-11.	Sentronic Targets for Cassettes and Tape Decks	63
Figure III-12.	3M Detector Strips	72
Table III-1.	Cost Comparison for Electronic Security Systems	77

Photographs

Checkpoint Mark III sensing screens	36
Gaylord/Magnavox sensing screens	47
Knogo Mark II Book Detection System at Hicksville (NY) Public Library	49
Knogo book verifier	51
Knogo master control panel	51
Knogo Mark IV sensing screens	53
Knogo Mark V sensing screens to be introduced in 1981	54
Using the Knogo mass target or wand sensitizer	55
The Sentronic sensing system	61
The Sentronic system with locking turnstiles	65
3M's 1250 sensing unit	67
3M's 1850 sensing unit	68
3M's 1350 sensing unit	69
3M's 940 sensitizing/desensitizing unit	71
3M's 950 sensitizing/desensitizing unit for oversized materials	74
3M Tattle-Tape system in use at the University of Utah Bookstore	85
Knogo software targets	91