
CONTENTS

Foreword viii

To the Reader xi

1 Defining Criticism, Theory, and Literature 1

- Listening to a Conversation 1
- Eavesdropping on a Literature Classroom 2
- Can a Text Have More Than One Interpretation? 4
- How to Become a Literary Critic 5
- What Is Literary Criticism? 6
- What Is Literary Theory? 7
- Making Meaning from Text 9
- The Reading Process and Literary Theory 10
- What Is Literature? 12
- Literary Theory and the Definition of Literature 14
- The Function of Literature and Literary Theory 15
- Beginning the Formal Study of Literary Theory 17
- Further Reading 18
- Web Sites for Exploration 19

2 A Historical Survey of Literary Criticism 20

- Plato (c. 427–347 B.C.E.) 21
- Aristotle (384–322 B.C.E.) 23
- Horace (65–8 B.C.E.) 25
- Longinus (First Century C.E.) 26
- Plotinus (204–270 C.E.) 27
- Dante Alighieri (1265–1321) 28
- Giovanni Boccaccio (1313–1375) 29
- Sir Philip Sidney (1554–1586) 30
- John Dryden (1631–1700) 31
- Joseph Addison (1672–1719) 32
- Alexander Pope (1688–1744) 34
- William Wordsworth (1770–1850) 35
- Percy Bysshe Shelley (1792–1822) 37
- Hippolyte Adolphe Taine (1828–1893) 38
- Matthew Arnold (1822–1888) 40
- Henry James (1843–1916) 42

Mikhail Bakhtin (1895–1975)	44
Modern Literary Criticism	47
Further Reading	48
Web Sites for Exploration	49
3 Russian Formalism and New Criticism	50
Russian Formalism	50
Bridging the Gap Between Russian Formalism and New Criticism	53
Applying Russian Formalism to a Literary Text	53
New Criticism	54
Historical Development	56
Assumptions	58
Methodology	62
Questions for Analysis	65
Critiques and Responses	65
Further Reading	66
Web Sites for Exploration	67
Sample Essay	67
Student Essay: Hilary S. Brautigam, Controlled Passion	68
4 Reader-Oriented Criticism	72
Historical Development	76
Assumptions	80
Methodology	82
Questions for Analysis	88
Critiques and Responses	89
Further Reading	90
Web Sites for Exploration	91
Sample Essay	91
Student Essay: Ian J. Galloway, The Child Grandmother	92
5 Modernity and Postmodernism: Structuralism and Deconstruction	96
Modernity	96
Poststructuralism or Postmodernism	98
Modernity to Modernism	101
Historical Development of Structuralism	102
Assumptions of Structuralism	109
Methodologies of Structuralism	111
Deconstruction Theory: From Structuralism to Poststructuralism	116
Deconstruction: Historical Development	117
Deconstructions' Assumptions	120

Methodology	122
Deconstructive Suppositions for Textual Analysis	126
Questions for Analysis	129
Critiques and Responses	131
Further Reading	133
Structuralism	133
Deconstruction	134
Web Sites for Exploration	134
Sample Essays	135
Student Essay I (Structuralist Approach):
Matthew G. Hepler, A Disconnect of Appearance and Reality: The Binaries of “Rappaccini’s Daughter”	136
Student Essay II (Deconstructive Approach): Danielle M. Bowers, Choosing Between Two Roads: Deconstructing Robert Frost’s “The Road Not Taken”	139
6 Psychoanalytic Criticism	142
Historical Development	144
The Present State of Psychoanalytic Criticism	155
Assumptions	156
Methodologies	157
Questions for Analysis	160
Critiques and Responses	160
Further Reading	161
Web Sites for Exploration	162
Sample Essay	162
Student Essay: Brandon W. Hawk, Anima and Reality in Poe’s “Ligeia”	163
7 Feminism	167
Historical Development	171
Feminism in the 1960s, 1970s, and 1980s	174
Present-day Feminist Criticisms	180
Assumptions	182
Methodology	183
Questions for Analysis	184
Critiques and Responses	184
Further Reading	186
Web Sites for Exploration	187
Sample Essay	188
Student Essay: Lori Huth, Throwing Off the Yoke: “Rip Van Winkle” and Women	188

8 Marxism 191

Historical Development	192
Marxist Theorists Today	200
Assumptions	201
Methodology	204
Questions for Analysis	205
Critiques and Responses	205
Further Reading	206
Web Sites for Exploration	207
Sample Essay	208
Student Essay:
Matthew S. Lasher, Heaven's Last Gleaming	208

9 Cultural Poetics or New Historicism 212

A New-Critical Lecture	212
Old Historicism	213
New Historicism	214
Historical Development	214
Cultural Materialism	218
New Historicism	218
Assumptions	219
What Cultural Poetics Rejects	222
What Cultural Poetics Does and Accepts	223
Methodology	223
Questions for Analysis	226
Critiques and Responses	226
Further Reading	227
Web Sites for Exploration	228
Sample Essay	229
Student Essay: Anna L. Kruse, Done Yesterday: A New Historicist Reading of Wilfred Owen's "Dulce et Decorum Est"	229

10 Cultural Studies: Postcolonialism, African-American Criticism, and Queer Theory 233

Postcolonialism: "The Empire Writes Back"	235
African-American Criticism	244
Queer Theory	252
Critiques and Responses	261
Further Reading	263
Web Sites for Exploration	265

Sample Essay 265

Student Essay: Benjamin K. Walker, The Empire Fights Back: Spectral Persecution and the Nightmare of Decolonization in Kipling's "At the End of the Passage" 266

Literary Selections 270

John Keats, "On First Looking into Chapman's Homer" (1816) 270

Nathaniel Hawthorne, "Rappaccini's Daughter" (From the Writings of Aubépine; 1844) 271

Nathaniel Hawthorne, "Young Goodman Brown" 293

Robert Frost, "The Road Not Taken" 303

Edgar Allan Poe, "Ligeia" 303

Wilfred Owen, "Dulce et Decorum Est" (1920) 315

Rudyard Kipling, "At the End of the Passage" 316

Glossary 331

Index 368