

Contents

Preface	ix
---------	----

I. INTRODUCTION

1	Learning About Teacher Change in the Context of Mathematics Reform: Where Have We Come From? Barbara Scott Nelson	3
---	---	---

II. THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVES ON STUDYING TEACHER CHANGE

2	Understanding Teachers in Transition: Characteristics of a Model for Developing Teachers Lynn Goldsmith and Deborah Schifter	19
3	Developing New Models of Mathematics Teaching: An Imperative for Research on Mathematics Teacher Development Martin Simon	55
4	On Understanding the Structure of Teachers' Beliefs and Their Relationship to Change Thomas J. Cooney and Barry Shealy	87

- 5 The More Things Change . . . Gender, Change, and Mathematics Education 111
Patricia B. Campbell

III. CONTEXT AND TEACHER CHANGE

- 6 A Conceptual Framework for Studying the Relevance of Context to Mathematics Teachers' Change 131
Douglas Jones
- 7 Teacher Learning in a Social Context: Integrating Collaborative and Institutional Processes with the Study of Teacher Change 155
Mary Kay Stein and Catherine Brown
- 8 Mathematics Teachers' Change in the Context of Their Professional Communities 193
Walter G. Secada and Lisa B. Adajian

IV. STUDIES OF PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS IN ACTION

- 9 Teacher Change and Mathematics K-4: Developing a Theoretical Perspective 223
Cheryl A. Lubinski and Patricia A. Jaberg
- 10 Changing Teachers: Interactions Between Beliefs and Classroom Practice 255
Megan Franke, Elizabeth Fennema, and Thomas P. Carpenter
- 11 Educational Reform and Professional Development 283
Janet Stocks and Janet Schofield
- 12 Project IMPACT: Influencing and Supporting Teacher Change in Predominantly Minority Schools 309
Patricia F. Campbell and Dorothy Y. White

