

C O N T E N T S

Introduction	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Martin Bernstein: Reminiscences and Thanks Stanley Kauffmann	1
The Accademia degli Unisoni: A Music Academy in Renaissance Perugia	5
Allan W. Atlas, Brooklyn College, City University of New York
Mathieu and Valentin Sohier: A New Pair of Renaissance Doppelmeister	25
Lawrence F. Bernstein, University of Pennsylvania
Viñes in Paris: New Light on Twentieth-Century Performance Practice	45
Elaine Brody, New York University
J.C. Bach, G.B. Sammartini, and Padre Martini: A Concorso In Milan in 1762	63
Howard Brofsky, Queens College, City University of New York
Music, Musicology, and Related Disciplines: On Perspective and Interconnectedness	69
Barry S. Brook, Graduate School, City University of New York
A Lesson in Operatic Performance Practice by Madame Faustina Bordoni	79
George J. Buelow, Rutgers University
Early French Dictionaries as Musical Sources	97
Albert Cohen, Stanford University
Opera Today: Thoughts and Observations	113
Walter Ducloux, University of Texas
The Cosmic Introduction in Nineteenth-Century Music	117
Philip Friedheim, Harpur College, State University of New York
Charles Ives's Book of 114 Songs	127
H. Wiley Hitchcock, Brooklyn College, City University of New York
Interrelationships between Poetic and Music Form in Trouvère Song	137
Theodore Karp, Northwestern University

Music for a Favola Pastorale (1554) Henry W. Kaufmann, Rutgers University	163
Trade Routes and Time Lag in the Export of Late Eighteenth-Century Opera Jan and Helen LaRue, New York University	183
The String Quartets of Béla Bartók George Perle, Queens College, City University of New York	193
The Motet Anthologies of Andrea Antico Martin Picker, Rutgers University	211
The Opening Chant for a Palestrina Magnificat Gustave Reese, Graduate School, City University of New York	239
Opening Themes in Opera Overtures of Johann Adolf Hasse: Some Aspects of Thematic Structural Evolution in the Eighteenth Century Judith L. Schwartz, Northwestern University	243
Tromlitz's Flute Treatise: A Neglected Source of Eighteenth-Century Performance Practice Thomas E. Warner, Bucknell University	261
Authenticity and Stylistic Evidence in the Early Symphony: A Conflict in Attribution between Richter and Stamitz Eugene K. Wolf, University of Pennsylvania	273
Index	295