

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgments	xii
1. Characteristics and Needs of the Slow Learner	1
Richard W. Schulz , Cedar Rapids Community Schools, Cedar Rapids, Iowa
2. The Research Literature	26
Len Pikaart , University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia
James W. Wilson , University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia
3. Behavioral Objectives	52
Henry H. Walbesser , University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland
Heather L. Carter , University of Texas, Austin, Texas
4. A Favorable Learning Environment	104
James R. Pearson , Dade County Public Schools, Miami, Florida
5. Adjustment of Instruction (Elementary School)	129
Charlotte W. Junge , Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan
6. Teaching Styles (Secondary School)	163
Elizabeth A. Collins , Dade County Public Schools, Miami, Florida
7. Aids and Activities	182
Evan M. Maletsky , Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, New Jersey

8. The Laboratory Approach	221
Patricia S. Davidson , Boston State College, Boston, Massachusetts
Marion I. Walter , Graduate School of Education, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts
9. Diagnostic-Prescriptive Teaching	282
Vincent J. Glennon , The University of Connecticut, Storrs, Connecticut
John W. Wilson , University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland
10. Classroom and School Administration	319
Paul V. Rogler , Wilmington Public Schools, Wilmington, Delaware
11. Promising Programs and Practices	345
12. The Training of Teachers	402
Dora Helen Skypek , Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia
Appendix A: Activities, Games, and Applications	444
Thomas E. Rowan , Maryland State Department of Education, Baltimore, Maryland
William G. McKenzie , Prince Georges County Public Schools, Upper Marlboro, Maryland
Appendix B: Sample Lessons	487
Index	521