

CONTENTS

	Page
Preface	3
A Note on the Textual References and the Bibliography	5
I. Introduction	9
1. Frege's Programme and the Thesis Concerning the Ambiguity of the Word 'Is'	9
2. Recent Approaches to Frege's Philosophy	18
II. The Interpretational Framework	27
1. Frege in a Historical Setting	27
2. Frege's View of Logic	31
2.1. The Structure of Frege's Language	31
2.2. The Idea of a Universal Language	35
III. The Origin of the Thesis Concerning the Ambiguity of the Word 'Is'	47
1. On Theories of 'Being'	47
2. Frege on 'Is'	53
IV. Identity and Predication	59
1. Leibniz and Frege's Accounts of Identity	59
2. The Distinction between Sinn and Bedeutung	62
2.1. The Concept of Sinn	62
2.2. The Philosophy behind Sinne and Bedeutungen .	71
3. The Context Principle	79
3.1. The Interpretation of the Context Principle .	79
3.2. Some Extensions of the Context Principle . .	89
4. The 'Is' of Identity and the 'Is' of Predication .	93
4.1. The Distinction between Objects and Concepts .	93
4.2. Frege's Objects	97
4.3. The Philosophical Reconstruction of the Begriffsschrift	102
4.3.1. Frege's Concept of Intuition	102
4.3.2. Frege's Theory of Knowledge	107
5. Remarks on Class-Inclusion	117

V.	Existence	128
1.	Frege's Analysis of Existential Statements	128
2.	Existence and Assertion	134
3.	The Philosophical Background of Frege's Equivocity View	140
4.	Propositional Attitudes de dicto and de re	144
5.	Remarks on Objectivity and Wirklichkeit	150
5.1.	Bolzano and Frege on Objectivity and Wirklichkeit	150
5.2.	Existence and Wirklichkeit	153
VI.	Concluding Remarks	159
	Bibliography	162
	Index of Names	179