

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	1
Part 1: Structures of Visual Representation	15
Chapter 1: Mimesis	17
– mimetic practices in artworks by women	18
– mimesis	25
– mimicry	29
– masquerade	32
– hysteria	36
– productive mimesis	39
– Irigaray's mimetic practice	44
Chapter 2: The Visible	52
– phallogocentrism	53
– the phallogocentric syntax	55
– disrupting phallogocentrism	60
– mirror	65
– speculum	72
– attentiveness and intersubjectivity	75
– intersubjective objects	83
– flowering of self	88
Part 2: Body and Legibility	95
Chapter 3: Morphology	97
– morphology as différance	97
– the lips and the mucus	101
– mucus as mediation	104

READING ART, READING IRIGARAY

–	morphologies in materials	106
–	legibility: Laura Godfrey-Isaacs	111
–	legibility: Bridget Riley and Rachel Whiteread	115
–	legibility: Jenny Saville	119
	Chapter 4: Gesture	125
–	gestural processes	125
–	performativity	129
–	Louise Bourgeois's Cells	132
–	Louise Bourgeois's gestures	136
	Part 3: Women's Genealogies	147
	Chapter 5: Divine Beauty	149
–	beauty	150
–	identity	152
–	the divine	154
–	the transcendental	155
–	abstraction and 'the beautiful object of contemplation'	158
–	goddess image: Cynthia Mailman and Yolanda López	165
–	reflecting (on) beauty	170
	Chapter 6: Mother–Daughter Genealogies	177
–	woman–woman genealogies	177
–	essentialism	187
–	productive mimesis: mother–daughter genealogies: Hannah Wilke, Frances Hegarty	193
	Conclusion	199
	Notes	205
	Bibliography	215
	Index	225