

Contents

Companion Website	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xiv
Introduction	xv

Part One The Methodology

1	What is Ethnography?	2
2	Method or Methodology? Locating Ethnography in the Methodological Landscape	15
3	Ethnographic Methodology: Approaches, Scholars and Modes	33
4	New Ethnographic Styles	53
5	Designing Research	69
6	Project Management	97

Part Two Collecting Materials

7	Entering the Field	117
8	Ethical Dilemmas	135
9	How to Observe	148
10	What to Observe: Social Structures, Talks and Contexts	162
11	Ethnographic Interviewing	190
12	Crafting Ethnographic Records	201

Part Three Analyzing Materials

13	Coding and Analyzing Ethnographic Records	225
14	Politics of Accountability	259

Part Four Audiences

15	Communicating Findings, Writing Ethnographies	285
16	Leaving the Field	306
17	The 'Observation Society': A Chance for Applied Ethnography	314
18	Finale	326
	Bibliography	331
	Index	343

Companion Website

Visit the Companion website at www.sagepub.co.uk/gobo to find additional case studies and exercises.

Referred to

Chapter 1
Case study: Etic and emic approaches	8
Chapter 2
Case study: The historical origins of the in-depth interview and the survey	26
Chapter 3
Cressey's methodological analysis	37
Exercise 3.3: Recognising ethnographic styles	48
Chapter 4
Case study: Can a woman be a composer?	56
Chapter 5
Case study: Latour and Woolgar classification	72
Case study: Shaping memory	73
Case study: Prejudice against Eskimos	77
Case study: Hypotheses	89
Exercise 5.3: Answers	89
Case study: On fashion	90
Case study: Closed circuit television (CCTV) and crime	91
Chapter 6
Case study: Degrees of participation	115
Chapter 7
Case study: Gender and hockey	125
Case study: Working in hostile environments	128

Chapter 9

Case study: The Chinese Room	152
Case study: The world through the eyes of the disabled	157
Case study: A girl from Ciociaria	158
Exercise: 9.0	158

Chapter 10

Exercise 10.1: Continued	163
Case study: Drugstores and drug addicts	164
Exercise 10.3: Continued	174
Case study: Space and social relations in a psychiatric hospital	174

Chapter 11

Case study: Defensive behavior in interview	195
Case study: Researching radical religions	196

Chapter 12

Case study: Addict ethnomethods to deceive the doctor	205
Exercise 12.1: Answer	207

Chapter 13

Case study: Coding sheet	228
Case study: Verifying, confirming, checking or documenting a hypothesis	240
Case study: The cultural explanation of Tarantism	242
Case study: Tarantism and latrodectism	251

Chapter 14

Case study: The Hawthorne Effect	262
Case study: The weakness of the concept of reliability	262
Case study: When reliability and validity are not enough: the case of animal experimentation	268
Case study: Academic ignorance and black intelligence	265
Case study: The weakness of the concept of 'discovery'	267

Chapter 15

Case study: The New Rhetoric movement and the role of argument	290
Case study: Ethnography as a 'blurred genre'	293
Case study: Metaphors in organization studies	300