

Contents

Foreword, by Lilian G. Katz	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	1
Using an Authentic Assessment System	2
Understanding the Project Approach	3
Learning About the Reggio Emilia Schools	5
Introducing Our Schools	8
Overview of This Book	8
Part I Learning About Documentation	11
1. The Value of Documentation	13
Applying What Is Known About Children's Learning	13
Why Document?	15
The Promise of Documentation	23
2. Windows on Learning: A Framework for Decision Making	25
A Window on a Child's Development	26
A Window on a Learning Experience	28
A Window for Teacher Self-Reflection	30
3. The Documentation Web: Providing a Map for Documentation	33
History of the Web	33
Understanding the Documentation Web	35
Using the Web to Increase Variation	37
4. Project Narratives: Telling the Story	39
The Story	39
Collecting Stories	41
Determining Content by the Audience	44
5. Observations of Child Development: Watching the Child	48
Checklists	48
Anecdotal Notes	51
The Project Approach and Observation	55
6. Individual Portfolios: Capturing Children's Competence	57
Understanding the Use of Portfolios	57
Collecting Core Items	60
Collecting Individualized Items	65
Other Portfolio Items	67

7. Individual and Group Products: Seeing Is Believing	72
Written Language Products	72
Verbal Language Products	80
Webs and Lists	82
Pictures	84
Music and Movement	92
Constructions	93
8. Self-Reflections of Children: Thinking About Thinking	100
Reflecting on Their Own Words	100
Self-Reflections of Dispositions	101
Self-Reflections of a Learning Experience	103
Group and Individual Self-Reflections	105
Part II Learning How to Document	109
9. Organization and Presentation of Documentation:
Opening the Windows	111
Getting Ready to Document	111
Preparing Children for Documenting	115
Doing the Documenting	116
Organizing Displays of Documentation	119
Setting Aside Time for Reflecting About Documentation	127
10. Implementation: Using Documentation for Decision Making	130
Decision Making	131
The Window on a Child's Development	132
The Window on a Learning Experience	135
The Window for Teacher Self-Reflection	139
Making Reflection a Priority	142
11. Documentation as Assessment: Building Credibility	143
Assessment	144
Guidelines for the Assessment Process	144
The Problem of Reliability	146
The Problem of Bias	147
Conclusion: Teaching with Integrity	149
Part III An Example of Documentation:
"Our Mail Project" Memory Book	151
Appendix: Overview of the Work Sampling System	191
References	195
Index	199
About the Authors	202