

TABLE OF CONTENTS

---

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
I. Minimalism, Silence, and the Representation of Passion and Power: Beckett in Context	1
II. Some Notes on Gertrude Stein and Deixis	11
III. After Olson and Celan: The Breadth and Twist of the Referent	21
IV. Projections of Measure: The Continued Synergies of Pound and Williams	41
V. New Musics in Poetry: The Senses of Sound	63
VI. Metrical Inventions: Zukofsky and Merwin	89
VII. Some Thoughts on the Literary Representation of the Self	103
VIII. A Depth of Images	123
IX. The Prolonged Preoccupation with Image: Yeats, Pound, Eliot	133
X. “Étendre, simplifier le monde”: The Philosophical Purchase of Mallarmé	149
XI. The French Mutations of Wallace Stevens	177
XII. The Strength of Ashbery: Disjunction, Nostalgia, and Narrative	199
XIII. Disjunctions and Fusions in Modern Literature and Art	213
Notes	219