

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
PREFACE ... ..	1
INTRODUCTION ... ..	2
CHAPTER 1. HISTORICAL SKETCH UP TO THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.
Introduction; The mediaeval Grammar Schools; the Foundations of Winchester and Eton; Founders' intentions for scholars; the Grammar Schools in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries; social position of Grammar School pupils; Grammar Schools after the Restoration; Harrow and Rugby; charges for tuition and maintenance ... ..	6
CHAPTER 2. HISTORICAL SKETCH FROM THE EARLY NINETEENTH CENTURY ONWARDS.
Grammar Schools in the first half of the Nineteenth Century; Samuel Butler and Thomas Arnold; the proprietary schools; social position of Grammar School pupils in the Nineteenth Century; legal position of Grammar Schools; the Clarendon and Taunton Commissions; 1870 to the present day: Thring and Sanderson; Endowed schools and the Local Authorities (1869-1902); the Bryce Report (1895); Endowed Schools and the statutory system of education (1902 to the present day); the Headmasters' Conference and the Associations of Governing Bodies of Boys' and Girls' Schools... ..	17
CHAPTER 3. THE INDEPENDENT PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO-DAY.
Introduction; Boarding Schools and Boarding Houses; the Prefect System; age of entry and curriculum; Religion; Governing Bodies; Conclusion ...	35
CHAPTER 4. DAY AND BOARDING SCHOOLS.
Characteristics of Day Schools; the Day School and the home; co-operation between Day School and parents; the Day School and local institutions; the advantage of a boarding education; training in community life; wide geographical recruitment of pupils; wider opportunities available to resident teaching staff; health and hygiene; religious education; any special educational advantages; conclusions ... ..	45
The problem of extending boarding opportunities; some objections considered; conclusions ... ..	51
Provision of boarding outside the Public Schools; independent schools outside the terms of reference; boarding facilities under the Local Education Authorities; need for reciprocal arrangements between Local Authorities; part-time boarding; problems raised by part-time boarding; conclusions ... ..	56
Accommodation for new Boarding Schools... ..	60
CHAPTER 5. PROPOSED SCHEMES OF ASSOCIATION.
The present position; some general considerations; two schemes of association proposed ... ..	60
Scheme A. Scope of scheme; recruitment of pupils; Local Education Authority places; other boarding places; financial arrangements—payment of fees; payments by the Board and Local Authorities; grants from Local Education Authorities towards capital expenditure; use of endowments; staffing ratios and salary scales; composition of Governing Bodies ... ..	63
Scheme B. Scope of scheme; bursaries for pupils from Primary Schools; proportion of places allotted to pupils from Primary Schools; reservation of places by Local Education Authorities; method of selection of bursars; age of entry; composition of Governing Bodies; salaries; termination of arrangements ... ..	65
Administration of the Schemes; a Central Advisory Committee... ..	67
The problem of the period from 11-13; other new boarding facilities; concluding observations ... ..	68
Supplementary note on the calculation of fees and grants in Scheme A; further supplementary note on calculation of parents' contributions ... ..	70
CHAPTER 6. SELECTION OF BURSARS.
No competitive examination; criteria of selection; procedure; advice to parents by Regional Interviewing Boards ... ..	71
CHAPTER 7. FINANCE.
Introduction; variation in Public School fees; causes of variation in fees; some Public School costs considered; financial implications of the two Schemes; self-help by pupils; extra charges ... ..	75

