

Contents

Acknowledgments	page viii
Abbreviations and notes on texts	x
Introduction: Of Sighs and Tears	I
1 The poetry of tears and the ghost of Robert Southwell in Shakespeare's Richard II and Milton's Paradise Lost	31
2 The poetry of tears and the metaphysics of grief: Richard Crashaw's "The Weeper"	77
3 The poetry of tears and the metaphysics of grief: Andrew Marvell's "Eyes and Tears"	99
4 Sad delight: Theology and Marian iconography in Aemilia Lanyer's Salve Deus Rex Judaeorum	124
5 Petrarchism and repentance in John Donne's Holy Sonnets	151
6 John Donne and the poetics of belatedness: Typology, trauma, and testimony in An Anatomy of the World	184
Conclusion	216
Index	233