

Contents

Preface	v
1. Conversation in Mother–Child Interaction	1
A. The nature of conversational exchanges	3
B. The emergence of mother–child conversation	12
2. Recordings of Mother–Child Conversation	21
A. The preparations for the study	21
B. The procedure of the study	27
3. Conversational Exchanges in the First Recording	37
A. The pattern of mother-initiated exchanges	38
B. The pattern of child-initiated exchanges	44
C. The overall pattern of mother–child conversation	49
D. Extract from the first recording of an excursive mother–child pair	58
E. Extract from the first recording of a recursive mother–child pair	59
F. Extract from the first recording of a discursive mother–child pair	60
4. Conversational Exchanges in the Second Recording	61
A. The changes in mother-initiated exchanges	62
B. The changes in child-initiated exchanges	69
C. The overall changes in mother–child conversation	76
D. Extract from the second recording of an excursive mother–child pair	77

E. Extract from the second recording of a recursive mother-child pair	78
F. Extract from the second recording of a discursive mother-child pair	78
5. Developmental Implications of the Conversational Exchanges	81
A. The impact of mother-initiated exchanges	82
B. The impact of child-initiated exchanges	91
C. The overall impact of mother-child conversation	97
6. Empirical Evidence for the Developmental Implications	99
A. The emergence of group differences	102
B. The alternative sources of group differences	112
7. Some Further Questions About Variations in Mother-Child Conversation	119
A. The origins of variations in mother-child conversation	122
B. The importance of variations in mother-child conversation	128
References	135
Appendix	143
Index	147