

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
Editor's introduction	V
William Nemser, Approximative systems of foreign language learners	1
Larry Selinker, Interlanguage	11
Athialy P. John, 'Approximative languages' and language learning situations . .	35
Ronald Sheen, The importance of negative transfer in the speech of near-bilinguals	43
Lewis Mukkatash, Persistence of fossilization	59
Ellen Broselow, An investigation of transfer in second language phonology . . .	77
D.S. Taylor, Non-native speakers and the rhythm of English	95
C. Ray Graham/R. Kirk Belnap, The acquisition of lexical boundaries in English by native speakers of Spanish	103
H. Guillermo Bartelt, Mode and aspect transfer in Navajo and Western Apache English narrative technique	115
Leo J. Loveday, Communicative interference: from Japanese to English	135
Original publication references	151