

Contents

PREFACE	vii
SECTION ONE: INTRODUCTION
1 Introduction Susan Gass, Carolyn Madden, Dennis Preston, Larry Selinker	3
SECTION TWO: THEORETICAL AND METHODOLOGICAL FOUNDATIONS
2 Accounting for Style-shifting in Interlanguage Elaine Tarone	13
3 Sources of Intra-Learner Variability in Language Use and their Relationship to Second Language Acquisition Rod Ellis	22
4 The Theoretical Status of Variation in Interlanguage Development Roger Andersen	46
5 Ends and Means: Methods for the Study of Interlanguage Variation Richard Young	65
SECTION THREE: TOPIC AND TASK
6 Psycholinguistic Perspectives on Interlanguage Variation: A Vygotskyan Analysis James P. Lantolf and Mohammed K. Ahmed	93
7 Theoretical Implications of the Acquisition of the English Simple Past and Past Progressive: Putting Together the Pieces of the Puzzle Nathalie Bailey	109
8 The Effect of Emotional Investment on L2 Production Miriam Eisenstein and Robin Starbuck	125

SECTION FOUR: APTITUDE AND CAPACITY

9	Exceptional Second Language Learners Lorraine Obler	141
10	Immigrant Children Who have Failed to Acquire Native English Georgette Ioup	160
11	Maturational Changes of Language Acquisitional Abilities Henning Wode	176

SECTION FIVE: ATTRITION

12	Variation in the Use of Referential Forms within the Context of Foreign Language Loss Ahmed Fakhri	189
13	Morphological Interaction between L1 and L2 in Language Attrition Dorit Kaufman and Mark Aronoff	202

SECTION SIX: LINGUISTIC FOUNDATIONS

14	Variable Rules as Prototype Schemas H. D. Adamson	219
15	L2 Tense Variation in Navajo English H. Guillermo Bartelt	233
16	Interlanguage, Interdialect and Typological Change Peter Trudgill	243

	CONTENTS OF VOLUME I	254
--	----------------------------	-----

	INDEX	256
--	-------------	-----