CHAPTER 2: What Do Second Language Reading Theory and Research Tell Us? 36

RESEARCH ISSUES AND PROBLEMS 37

FROM THE PSYCHOLINGUISTIC PERSPECTIVE 39

Coady's Psycholinguistic Model 39

General Applications of Psycholinguistic Theory 40

HOW VITAL ARE READER SCHEMATA IN READING COMPREHENSION? 42

Research on Content Schemata 44

Research on Formal Schemata 46

Bernhardt's Constructivist Model 47

HOW DO FIRST AND SECOND/FOREIGN LANGUAGE READING RELATE? 48

How do First and Second/Foreign Language Reading Processes Compare? 50

Similarities in the processes 50

Differences between the processes 51

Do First Language Reading Skills Transfer to Second/Foreign Language Reading? 53

Language proficiency determines reading skill 54

First language reading skills do transfer 54

THE ROLE OF THE TEXT 56

What is the Importance and Role of Text Type or Structure? 56

What Role Do Textual Elements Play in Reader Comprehension? 59

Vocabulary 60

Syntax and semantics 61

Cohesion 62

FUTURE DIRECTIONS 63

CHAPTER 3: The Impact of Reading Strategy Use on Comprehension 66

TOWARD A TAXONOMY OF READING STRATEGIES 66

WHAT DO EXPERIMENTS TELL US ABOUT READING STRATEGIES? 70

Describing Reading Strategies 71

Transfer of First Language Strategies 71

Metacognitive Awareness and Effectiveness of Strategy Use 75

PART II: APPLICATIONS AND PRACTICE 109

CHAPTER 4: Helping Students Interact with Texts 110

GENERAL PEDAGOGICAL PRINCIPLES 111

A BASIC LESSON PLAN 113

Prereading 115

Text, topic, source, author 115

Illustrations and titles 117

Text structure 118

Text genre 119

Skimming and scanning 120

Developing vocabulary 122

In conclusion 123

While Reading 124

Recognizing individual reading processes 124

Guessing word meanings 126

Considering syntax and sentence structure 128

Predicting text content 130

Reading for information 132

Using the dictionary 133

In conclusion 134

Postreading 134

Exercise types 135

From comprehension to analysis 137

Follow-up 139

Transferring skills 140

Integrating skills 141

CONCLUSION 143

CHAPTER 5: Beyond the Reading Lesson 144

CHOOSING READING TEXTS 144

Adapting the Textbook 145

Self-Selected Reading 146

TESTING READING 147

FROM READING COMPREHENSION TO LITERARY OR CULTURAL ANALYSIS 153

ANALYZING READERS' PROCESSES 156

LIST OF TABLES

I	Performance on Background Knowledge Questions
II	Ranges and Means of Strategy-Use Scores, Perceived-Use Scores, Recall Scores
III	Differences Between the Means of Groups Working with Nonsense Words (NW) and Real Words (RW) (T-test, pooled variance estimate)
IV	Strategy-Use and Perceived-Use Scores Grouped as High, Medium, or Low
V	Mean Recall Scores of Students in Each Group
VI	Three-Factor Analysis of Variance: Interactions of Strategy-Use and Perceived-Use Scores for Students who Read "Eastwood" (N = 60)
VII	Three-Factor Analysis of Variance: Interactions of Strategy-Use and Perceived-Use Scores for Students who Read "An 2000" (N = 60)
VIII	Pearson's Correlation Coefficients for Recall, Background-Knowledge (for "Eastwood" or "An 2000"), Strategy-Use, and Perceived-Strategy Scores (N = 60)
IX	Items on Which Strategy-Use Responses Differ by 20% or More
X	A Comparison of Students' Questionnaire Responses and Actual Strategy Use
