

CONTENTS

	Page
Pierangela Diadori: An integrated audio-video project for the use of pop songs as Language learning and teaching supports	7
John Higgins: Another look at artificial unintelligence	15
Jürgen Handke: AI and CALL: some proposals towards the implementation of intelligent CALL software	25
Agnes Kukulska-Hulme and Frank Knowles: The computer as a tool for the writer: the quest for the “right” word	39
István Kecskés: A multi-purpose authoring program	51
Brian Powell: The Computers in Teaching Initiative Centre for Modern Languages: an initial survey	61
Evelyn Perry: COMPUTEARN and ESP: in defence of the authoring system	71
Günter Schmid : Teacher training in CALL	83
Robert Vanderplank: Non-native speaker viewers' use of tel-text sub-titles in English: some exploratory studies	89
Graham Davies: Expodisc: an interactive videodisc for learners of Spanish	103
Johan F. Matter: The language laboratory revisited	111
Dick Davies: ELNET: the European Learning Network	123